Hoover Proposes One-Third Reduction World's Arms

PROPOSAL IS NOT LINKED WITH DEBTS

Would Lift Burden of From 10 to 15 Billion From Shoulders of Taxpayers
HITS ALL WEAPONS
Suggestion Sent to Geneva Disarmament Conference By President Today

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(UP)—A sweeping proposal to reduce the world's arms by one-third and lift a burden from 10 to 15 billion dollars from the shoulders of the common man during the next 10 years was advanced today by President Hoover. A year and two days after his momentous moratorium proposal, the American president again has presented an unexpected and concise plan for dealing with one of the world's greatest barriers to peace—armaments. The proposal was presented to the world disarmament conference at Geneva. Every kind of fighting weapon would be reduced or banned under the proposal. Mr. Hoover suggested that not only land armaments should be cut but that there should be a one-third reduction in naval strength under existing treaty limits. The president's plan was outlined today by Mr. Hoover before a small group of newspapermen. He read his proposal, emphasizing the fact that it touched all branches of armament. At his side sat Secretary of State Stimson, who aided him in drafting the plan. Attempting to put new life in the flagging Geneva disarmament conference, the president declared that "the time is come when we should cut through the brush and adopt some broad and definite method of reducing the overwhelming burden of armament."

Important Step
"This," Mr. Hoover said, "would be the most important world step that could be taken to expedite the proposal, on high official authority, is linked in no way with the problem of war debts. It was authoritatively stated that the American delegation has not discussed war debts with European statesmen. Officials here held that to offer a trade of war debts for disarmament would be insulting to the nations of Europe. Before presenting his plan, Mr. Hoover had it approved by Stimson, Secretary of War Hurley, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the army; Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, and the American delegation at the Geneva conference. The Hoover deduction plan will not cut the man power of America's army. It was held that this is already below the strength the European nations will require for internal police protection. As the naval cuts are based on treaty strength rather than actual strength, scrapping of existing vessels probably will not be necessary."

SMITH ARRIVES IN WINDY CITY TO BOOST SELF

Declares He is for No Other Candidate Than Alfred E. Smith

CHICAGO, June 22.—(UP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith arrived today from New York to take charge of the "Stop Roosevelt" movement and was met at the La Salle street station by about a thousand whooping adherents. He said "everything is all right," but postponed further political comment until his formal press conference arranged for later in the forenoon. Smith arrived with a party of 16 persons, and in 15 minutes was able to fight his way through photographers, reporters, autograph hunters and Smith fans to the lower level of the station where he took a car to his hotel. "Don't be greedy," Smith counseled photographers after several dozen shots. Perspiring and red of face, he escorted Mrs. Smith through the long smoky train shed. There was a pause of several minutes for sound picture recording. Smith confined his remarks to memories of the 1928 campaign and his unlimited esteem for Chicago and its people. Recalling he had not been in Chicago since that campaign, Smith said his reception at that time "helped me go through the campaign." Joseph M. Proskauer, speaking for Smith, reiterated what was said in New York—that the party was here to nominate Smith and not to stop anybody. There was much speculation as to the course Tammany would take.

MENJOU WILL TELL STORY TO CORONER

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—(UP)—A coroner's jury today was to hear details of a fast automobile ride which culminated in the death of 15-year-old Marjorie Gauthier, and brought the arrest of Harold L. Menjou, 20-year-old adopted son of Adolph Menjou, film actor, on charges of murder and drunk driving. Menjou has been in the county jail since his arrest, unable to raise $10,000 bond. The inquest was to be held this morning in Hawthorne, a suburb. Prior to the inquest, Menjou is to be arraigned on the double charges before Judge A. F. Mogroes of Inglewood. Police surgeons pronounced young Menjou intoxicated after the accident which claimed his companion's life. A motorcycle officer who swore to the complaints charged the youth was driving more than 78 miles an hour when his automobile overturned.

LIP READING CHAMP CROWNED IN FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—(UP)—Kate Morphy, San Francisco employee of the American Trust company, today was crowned lip reading champion of America. The nation's best lip readers participated in a tournament conducted by the American Federation of Organizations for the Hard of Hearing, and they demonstrated they could follow a conversation easily by watching the speaker's lips. Miss Morphy defeated Miss Frances Harold Downes of Washington, winner of the 1931 contest. Mrs. Mary Nichols of Beverly Hills was third.

Another Type Of Chiseler Is Discovered

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—(UP)—A new type of "chiseler" has been developed at the trial of Myrtle Hazel Joan St. Pierre against David L. Hutton for $200,000 breach of promise damages. Mostly women, stole a batch of blank subpoenas, signed their names as witnesses, and boldly marched into the courtroom to front row seats. The unusual number of "witnesses" present bared the hoax.

SEEK TO LIMIT DEBATE OVER RELIEF BILL

Hopes for Adjournment of Congress Blasted When Action Delayed

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(UP)—Democratic Leader Robinson prepared today in an effort to expedite senate action on the $2,000,000 unemployment relief program. Failure of the senate to pass the measure yesterday and its refusal to go into a night session blasted hopes for adjournment of congress before the Democratic national convention begins Monday. Leaders now predict congress must sit at least 10 more days. Robinson said he would move today for adoption of a rule limiting each senator to 10 minutes of debate after 5 p. m. The senate still has to make its major decisions on controversies.

SHARP DECLINE IN GAS TAX REVEALED

SACRAMENTO, June 22.—(UP)—A sharp decline in state revenue from the gasoline tax for the month of May was noted in a report of the board of equalization made here today. The gas tax collections amounted to $3,384,566 for the month, as compared with $4,049,275—a decrease of 16 per cent. "If this decline should continue," said John C. Corbett of San Francisco, member of the board, the effect on the revenue available for highway construction would be serious. For the first quarter of 1932 the tax was only 5 per cent less than the corresponding period last year.

ZASU PITTS NEVER GOES TO PICTURES

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—(UP)—Zasu Pitts, film comedienne, never attends motion pictures, "not even my own." Miss Pitts made the revelation when she was called as a witness in the $1,000,000 libel suit brought by Mrs. Teresa Rubens, mother of the late Alma Rubens, against James R. Quirk, publisher of Photoplay Magazine. Miss Pitts was asked if she could name any motion picture in which Miss Rubens appeared that might have brought her the rank of stardom. She was unable to answer because she said she never went to the movies.

GOVERNMENT IN CHILE ADOPTS STRONG MOVES

Stringent Measures to Be Used to Prevent Any Further Revolts

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 22.—(UP)—The socialist junta of Chile today designated as an "enemy of the Republic" any person who advocates doctrines tending to violently overthrow the constituted government or social institutions. A decree signed by Carlos G. Davila, his two fellow members of the junta, and the ministers of justice and the interior made enemies of the republic liable to imprisonment, deportation and a fine of from 500 to 1000 pesos. The same penalty was applicable to incitement to robbery, arson, or murder, formation of societies aiming at such offenses, membership in or maintenance of relations with foreign societies preaching such doctrines, incitement to damage or destruction of public works or communications, importation of munitions, and fomenting of illegal strikes. The strong measures adopted by the government, including declaration of martial law throughout the country, restored comparatively calm after serious rioting here and at Valparaiso. Strong precautions against further outbreaks resulted in the arrest of former aviation lieutenant, Diego Arozena and 15 other officers charged with distributing pamphlets calling for the return of Col. Marmaduke Grove, ousted in the counter-revolution which returned Davila to power. Col. Grove and his chief aides were arrested and taken aboard the destroyer Lynch to Juan Fernandez island, 400 miles in the Pacific. Senora Grove applied for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of her husband, and a similar move was made for Arturo Matte, held with applications were made asking the ministry of interior for particulars of the deportation.

STEPMOTHER GETS SENTENCE AND FINE

CHICAGO, June 22.—(UP)—Mrs. Jennie Pacer, 49, today was under nine months jail sentence and $200 fine after her two stepchildren told in court of the tortures to which she had subjected them. The children, Edward Pacer, 11, and his sister Clara, 12, testified their stepmother had: Punished Edward by burning his tongue with a heated knife. Knocked Clara's teeth out with her fist. Beat both with a blacksnake whip. Waked Edward from his sleep to buy her whiskey. Forced Clara to peddle home-brew. The sentence was ordered after other witnesses said the woman fed her own children well but half starved the motherless youngsters.

TRENCH RATS ELECT LEADER AT PARLEY

SAN DIEGO, June 22.—(UP)—H. V. Snell, Kansas City, today became the new head of the Trench Rats, fun organization of the disabled American Veterans of the World War, in convention here. Snell was elected to the post of Imperial Golden Rodent, at the organization's meeting here last night. Other new officers are:

20 Days To Be Allowed For Reply

No Addition Definite Steps Will Be Taken Before Democratic Meet

ALBANY, N. Y., June 22.—(UP)—Mayor James J. Walker of New York city was called upon today by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt to answer charges preferred against him by Samuel Seabury, counsel of the Hofstadter New York city investigating committee. Roosevelt sent a letter to the mayor requesting an answer to the Seabury charges and also to allegations filed by two New York city organizations. The governor informed the mayor that he had requested Seabury to forward him the transcript of testimony which he gave before the committee. The documents which Seabury sent to the governor after the Hofstadter committee's investigation of the New York city government were accompanied by a summary in which Seabury alleged that Walker's testimony and other evidence bearing on his administration showed he was unfit to hold office. Seabury charged that Walker's ownership of stock in a company that sold street light fixtures to the city was enough in itself to disqualify him under the law. Further than to tell newspapermen that he believed his letter to the mayor explained everything, the governor would not comment. It was considered likely that the governor would allow the mayor 20 days to prepare his answer to the transcript of testimony, which he has termed "charges" thereby not

MILLION CATHOLICS ARRIVE IN DUBLIN

DUBLIN, June 22.—(UP)—Catholic pilgrims numbering about a million were in Dublin today for the official opening of the 31st international eucharistic congress, one of the Catholic church's greatest modern spectacles. The congress opened officially with a service at St. Mary's pro-cathedral this afternoon. At midnight, masses were to be sung in all the city churches with a pontifical mass at the pro-cathedral. Meetings and lectures in which the church's most scholarly laymen and foremost ecclesiastics will discuss the Holy Eucharist and its significance will be held Thursday and Friday and a pontifical mass for children will be celebrated Saturday. A fanfare of trumpets and pontifical high mass in Phoenix park will bring the worship to a close Sunday.

BORAH STANDS PAT ON BREAK OVER STRADDLE

Administration Efforts to Win Senator Over Are Proving Fruitless

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(UP)—Senator William E. Borah, powerful Republican dry leader, appeared to be turning his back today against anticipated administration efforts to win him over to support President Hoover's re-election campaign. The Idaho orator more than once has split with other party leaders, called for a white, and then in the end gone out on the stump for the Republican presidential nominee. His thundering voice was the siege gun of the 1928 Hoover campaign. But he shows no disposition to compromise his declaration that he cannot support Mr. Hoover on the Republican convention prohibition plank. The hope of administration leaders lies in arguing with Borah that the Hoover "straddle" plank does not stand for repeal but merely proposed to let the states choose between Federal and State prohibition; and in pointing out that the plank specifically provides that no member of the party be bound by it. Borah kept his own counsel as to what he will do in the campaign but he elaborated his view that the Republican plank stands for "naked repeal." He declared in the Senate that it would be impossible to prevent return of the saloon under any substitute for the 18th amendment. He charged that Postmaster General Brown, chief political lieutenant for President Hoover, told him he expected the saloon to return and would prefer it to present conditions. Telling of a conversation with Brown before the convention, Borah said: "I know there are a lot of fine spun theories since the Chicago convention. But there is no getting away from the fact that when manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor is permitted, the fundamental principle of the 18th amendment is removed. Mr. Brown argued in our conversation that the states would be given the right to control the liquor traffic."

CROSS EXAMINE COMELY NURSE IN HUTTON SUIT

Mystery is Injected Into Case As Accuser Goes on Stand Again

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—(UP)—A woman whose names "does not matter" and a man in a red necktie were added today to the already incongruous cast at the trial of Myrtle St. Pierre's $200,000 breach of promise suit against David L. (Iron Man) Hutton, husband of the famed blonde evangelist, Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton. They were introduced as possible witnesses and in the best manner of mystery fiction by attorneys aiding Hutton to combat the charges that he betrayed Mrs. St. Pierre under promise of marriage. The woman, plainly dressed, rushed into the courtroom just as today's session was getting under way, conferred with Hutton, his attorneys and Judge Lester Roth and then was bundled from the courtroom and away in an automobile. "She sure got some stuff," all right," the corpulent defendant excitedly told newspapermen, "I can't tell you her name—it doesn't matter, anyhow—but she sure has the stuff."

FOX THEATERS ARE THROWN INTO COURT

NEW YORK, June 22.—(UP)—The Fox theatres, which were thrown into equity receivership in federal court today. Martin T. Manton, presiding judge of the federal court of appeals, sitting as a district judge, granted the receivership petition of the Chicago Title & Trust Co., one of the corporation's creditors. He named William E. Atkinson, the corporation's president, and John P. Sherman as receivers and required them to furnish a joint bond of $100,000. It was understood to be a "friendly" action.

ROLPH WAVERING ON CALLING OF SOLONS

SACRAMENTO, June 22.—(UP)—Faced by stubborn opposition by foes of water development, Governor Rolph today appeared to be wavering on his proposal to call a special session of the state legislature on water conservation. Previously the governor had definitely said he would call such a session, even setting the date as "some time between August 14 and 24."

STATE TAKES BIDS ON CONSIDERATION

SACRAMENTO, June 22.—(UP)—Bids for minor construction work on three state institutions were under consideration by the state division of architecture today as follows: Stockton state hospital—Installation of refrigeration work in kitchen and bakery building; low bidder, Oakland Refrigeration and Butcher Supply Co., Oakland, $3,500. Mendocino state hospital, Talmadge—Constructing new fire house, E. T. Leiter and Sons, Oakland, $10,837.

QUITS RACE

STRADDLE ON PROHIBITION IS ATTACKED

California Congressman in Statement Asserts He Cannot Approve Plank IS NOT CANDIDATE

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(UP)—Representative Swing, Republican, California, today officially announced his withdrawal from the race for the Republican senatorial nomination in California. He declared his withdrawal was entirely due to his opposition to a change on prohibition. Following the attitude of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, he denounced the "wet-dry straddle plank" of the Republican platform. "It was my intention," Swing said, "to make a fight for progressive principles, demanding that the federal government take aggressive and direct action to attack the grave economic problems which threaten our economic and political institutions. However, since that time the propaganda against prohibition has risen to greatly distract the attention of the people with its contention that repeal is the remedy for our present ills. "My convictions are to the contrary. I am a Republican, but I cannot approve the wet-dry straddle plank of my party's platform. Neither can I approve its disavowal of federal responsibility for action to relieve the unemployment situation, nor its declaration restricting relief to palliative measures which do not so to the root or the cause of the present depression."

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 22. (To the Editor of The Register:) Say, you all got to quit knocking Congress. Didn't you see what they did yesterday? Passed a bill to cut their own salaries. Come on, let's give the boys a great big hand. That was mighty good of 'em at that. Well, how did your taxes work today? This was the first day of the new taxes. Everybody is wondering how they come to tax the articles that they did. Well, I found out how it was done; they give each member permission to bring in the name of some article that he particularly didn't like personally, and they put a tax on for him. Yours, WILL ROGERS.

CROSS EXAMINE SMITH ARRIVES COMELY NURSE IN WINDY CITY IN HUTTON SUIT TO BOOST SELF

Lorn Andrews, Hutton's chief counsel, said the woman would be called later. He said she came all the way from New York City to give important information in the case.

The man in the red necktie, in constant attendance since the twice-married Mrs. St. Pierre began her damage suit, probably will be a witness, defense attorneys said. They declined to reveal his name but it was said he, like Hutton, formerly was one of the suitors of Mrs. St. Pierre.

With the mystery element thus well taken care of the husky singer, Hutton, awaited a chance to strike back through cross examination at the comely nurse who accused him of having wooed, won and betrayed her, only to desert her for the present Mrs. McPherson-Hutton.

Although she testified on direct examination she first met Hutton at a Hollywood party, Mrs. St. Pierre on cross-examination said she was introduced to him at the home of Mrs. Earle C. Anthony, in Alhambra.

It was at the Hollywood party, she told the court, that Hutton immediately began a campaign for her heart, calling her gorgeous and attaching himself to her.

John F. Curry, Tammany leader, was expected here late today, when he might clarify whether Tammany goes with Roosevelt.

Interview Smith

The Smith interview in Shouse's headquarters began with this shout from the back of the room: "Well, governor, what did you have for breakfast?"

"Ham and eggs," Smith replied in a raspy voice now famous throughout the United States.

With that "where?" out of the way, someone asked:

"Got anything to say, governor?"

"Yes, I have," Smith replied.

A member of the party started a stampede to the front of the room by brandishing Smith's typewritten paper which read:

"The 18th amendment should never have been put into the constitution. It is not workable. I attacked it from the time it was first proposed and prophesied its failure and stated that it would be proved to be the greatest curse ever put over on an unsuspecting people."

"I fought it when it was not popular to take that side of the issue in many parts of my own state and in many other states of the union, and when every weapon of narrow-minded intolerance was turned against me. I carried the banner when the army was small, the strikers numerous and the opposition bitter. I was then and I am now for the unconditional repeal of the 18th amendment.

"The Volstead act should at once be amended by a scientifically correct definition that will permit sale of beverages of reasonable alcoholic content. The people of the United States are entitled to this relief which would divert the profits of the bootlegger into legitimate taxes."

It was a rare one-act political skit that Smith staged.

For 20 minutes he answered a running fire of questions, snapping his answers back with speed, dash and humor.

Smith wore a dark blue necktie and a blue serge, double-breasted suit of a standardized style once worn by Herbert Hoover.

His brown derby had been replaced by a hard straw sailor.

He appeared the substantial business man, operator of the largest office building in the world. But in his actions he was the old fire horse answering the alarm with the snort of eagerness which marks the born politician.

Statement Read

The statement was read and Smith was put under a machine gun questioning.

"Do you favor putting a plank in the platform for immediate revision of the Volstead act, governor?" he was asked.

"Yes," he replied. "The one-half of 1 per cent definition is an arbitrary one written in there by the Anti-Saloon League."

"Will you submit such a plank to the resolutions committee?"

"If nobody else does, I will."

"Will you personally urge it before the convention if necessary?"

"The convention is a week away, why anticipate?"

"Who's going to be the nominee?"

"The convention will decide, and here Smith opened up his golden smile full volume.

JURY CONVICTS MRS. OTSTOT OF MANSLAUGHTER

Found guilty of manslaughter by verdict of a jury returned last night before Superior Judge H. G. Ames, department one of the superior court, Mrs. Zermula Ostot, wife of a San Juan Capistrano druggist, swooned when the document was read by Deputy Clerk Clyde Bruce.

The verdict of guilty was returned at 8:45 p. m., after less than five hours' deliberation by the jury. Pronouncement of judgment was set for Friday morning and Mrs. Ostot's bail of $1000 was continued until that time.

Mrs. Ostot was convicted in connection with the death of Mrs. Juanita Lopez, widowed mother of four children. Mrs. Lopez, who was walking beside the highway and pushing a baby carriage in which her youngest child was riding, was killed April 17 when struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Ostot.

Dr. Paul Esslinger, who was called shortly after the accident, testified that he had smelled alcohol on the breath of Mrs. Ostot, but that she passed all sobriety tests.

Local Vet Post, In Good Shape, Planning Drive

Deputy District Inspector R. M. Nichols, who is commander of Greater Manchester post, made an official visit to Ernest L. Kellogg post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Monday night at the regular meeting in the K. of P. building.

The inspector found the post in good condition, in fact, one of the best in the district, he declared, which includes all of Southern California with the exception of Los Angeles.

Members of the local post made plans for a big barbecue to be held during September when many entertainment features will be presented. J. M. Pierson and Charles W. Kincaid will be in charge of arrangements for the local participation in the barbecue and program, which will be held jointly with the Fullerton post.

Sam Ward, chairman of the recruiting committee, announced plans for staging a membership campaign to bring the membership up to the 200 mark by the time of the national convention which will be held in Sacramento on August 28.

The V.F.W. auxiliary is planning to stage a public card party next Monday night.

3 Hurt In 17th Street Car Crash

Three persons were injured in an automobile accident which occurred at the corner of Seventeenth street and Garden Grove road Monday, according to a report of the accident just filed today at the California Highway Patrol office.

Mrs. V. R. Coates, driver of one of the cars involved in the accident, her 16-month-old son, Bobby Coates, of Garden Grove, and Lorena Christopher were the persons reported injured. They were not believed to have been injured seriously, however.

I. N. Murphy of Hollywood was the driver of the car which crashed with the car driven by Mrs. Coates.

SEEK TO LIMIT DEBATE OVER RELIEF BILL

growing out of Democratic relief program. The bill provides a $500,000,000 public works bond issue and an increase of $1,500,000,000 in reconstruction corporation funds to finance state and city construction of revenue-producing projects on which thousands could work.

Chief center of dispute was a series of amendments proposed by Senator LaFollette, Rep. Wis. He and other insurgents would transfer the measure into a $5,000,000,000 public works bond issue plan. Regular Republicans have an amendment to eliminate the bill's $500,000,000 bond issue. There is a possibility they may not press it to a vote now.

When passed by the senate, the whole relief program—including the $300,000,000 state loan fund approved earlier—must go to conference to be reconciled with the Garner measure passed by the house. This may take some time. Then it must return to house and senate for final action.

The $150,000,000 economy bill was deadlocked in conference for nearly a week, until the house surrendered to senate views and substituted "payless vacations" for a direct government salary reduction. Final senate action may send the measure to President Hoover today.

Senator Fess, Rep. Ohio, interjected: "He was arguing for the right of the people to decide."

"I am going to state the conversation in full," Borah resumed. "I said that I for months had been undertaking to devise a plan that would protect dry states and prevent return of the saloon."

"I said I had made some progress regarding protection, but that I had reached the conclusion that, once we legalized the sale, there was no way to prevent return of the saloon. Mr. Brown replied: 'I think you are right. Once sale is permitted, you can't prevent the saloon. I expect to see the return of the saloon and I would rather have it than this situation.'" permitting any additional definite steps in the case until well after the Democratic national convention.

Roosevelt was believed to have reached his decision to permit Walker to answer the charges at a meeting Sunday night with his newly appointed assistant counsel, former supreme court justice John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie, and Martin Conboy, a leading New York attorney. They conferred on the Walker case until well after midnight.

Reports still persisted that the governor may have discussed the case last week with John F. Curry, Tammany hall leader and John McCooey, Brooklyn chief, at a private conference in Saratoga Springs.

Wife Says Mate Was Too Ready With His Fists

Noel C. Parker became enraged, struck his wife and called her vile names just because she commented on a newspaper picture and said that the man in the picture was good-looking, according to the divorce complaint filed today by Mrs. Elizabeth Parker.

The attack by her husband, precipitated over this newspaper picture episode occurred in 1928, according to Mrs. Parker. In 1930 she alleges her husband became jealous of her friends and in their presence struck her and knocked her through a door of their home. She also cited many other instances when her husband struck her and called her vile names.

HOOVER MAKES PROPOSAL FOR ARMS REDUCING

essary. However, the avoidance of building the navy up to the London treaty strength probably would save American taxpayers $2,000,000,000 during the next decade, officials estimate.

The president proposed the following five principles to guide the world toward arms reduction:

"1—The Kellogg-Brand pact, to which we are all signatories, can only mean that the nations of the world have agreed that they will use their arms solely for defense."

"2—This reduction should be carried out not only by broad general cuts in armament but by increasing the comparative power of defense through decreases in the power of attack."

"3—The armaments of the world have grown up in general mutual relation to each other. And, speaking generally, such relativity should be preserved in making reductions."

"4—The reductions must be real and positive. They must effect economic relief."

"5—There are three problems to deal with. Land forces, air forces and naval forces. They are all inter-connected. No part of the proposals which I make can be dissociated one from the other."

After enumerating these principles, the president declared:

"Based on these principles, I propose that the arms of the world should be reduced by nearly one-third."

The land force section of the proposal provided that all tanks, chemical warfare instruments and large mobile guns should be scrapped. He held these weapons to be offensive. He called also for a one-third cut in all land armies, above the strength required for police needs.

Mr. Hoover took the post war treaties that disarmed Germany, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria as a ruler to measure reduction of other armies. Germany was allowed 100,000 troops for a population of 65,000,000.

Simple and Direct

"This formula," Mr. Hoover said, "with necessary corrections for powers having colonial possessions, should be sufficient to provide for the maintenance of internal order by the nations of the world."

Simple and direct was the section on air forces. It said:

"All bombing planes to be abolished. This will do away with the military possession of types of planes capable of attack upon civil populations and should be coupled with the total prohibition of all bombardment from the air."

In the naval realm, Mr. Hoover suggested reducing battleships and submarines by one-third below present strength under the Washington and London treaties. No nation, he proposed, should have a submarine tonnage greater than 25,000. He suggested a reduction of one-fourth in the treaty tonnage of aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers.

A short cut to solution of the Franco-Italian naval controversy was suggested by Mr. Hoover. He proposed that in carrying out naval reduction the two Mediterranean countries calculate strength as if they had joined in the London treaty limiting auxiliary ships.

Summarizing his plan, Mr. Hoover said:

"These proposals are simple and direct. They call upon all nations to contribute something. The contribution here proposed will be relative and neutral. I know of nothing that would give more hope for humanity today than the acceptance of such a program with such minor changes as may be necessary."

"It is folly for the world to go on breaking its back over military expenditure and the United States is willing to take its share of responsibility by making definite proposals that will relieve the world."

Collins Not With Packing House

Due to an error it was stated that C. C. Collins, who filed suit in superior court as an individual and as guardian for his son, Don Collins, is connected with the C. C. Collins packing house here. He is not connected with that organization. Collins is demanding judgment for $51,000 damages for injuries to his son in an automobile accident. M. H. Lewis was named defendant.

Local Briefs

Samuel H. Taylor, 33, and Martha M. Downey, 29, of Fullerton, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

Budget requests for the next fiscal year were received from the Talbert and Newhope Drainage Districts by the county board of supervisors yesterday. The Talbert District wants $10,000 and the Newhope organization will require $15,000 to carry on its program.

The board of supervisors yesterday approved an appropriation of $5000 for the State Forestry department as Orange county's share of expense for fire protection work in this area during the next fiscal year.

Dr. Elizabeth W. Took, director of the Orange County Laboratory, yesterday communicated with the board of supervisors and requested an audience in which to present plans for increasing the work handled at the laboratory and reducing expenses. Her letter indicated that her department had been criticized by officials at the county hospital and it was referred to Dr. H. E. Zaiser.

Work of re-opening the Ocean boulevard passage across Santa Ana river will be completed within a few weeks, according to Nat H. Neff, county superintendent of highways. During the winter months approximately 225 yards of sand washed across the road closing it to traffic across the river. According to Neff, a crew of workmen has been at work on this section of the road which connects North Flower street, Santa Ana, with Seventh street in Long Beach, for several weeks.

GIVES REASON FOR REJECTING WATER PROJECT

Willard Smith, member of the board of supervisors and chairman of the board's water committee, today explained why the proposed water spreading program for the upper Santa Ana river was turned down before the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce. It had been planned to discuss the measure at this meeting and it was expected that G. A. Elliott, engineer who advised against the project, would be present.

Smith said that the Associated Chambers of Commerce meeting is scheduled for June 28 at which time the proposal was scheduled for discussion. The next date on which the supervisors meet and could consider what action could be taken, after the meeting, would be July 5.

Under the present setup, the $200,000 state funds available for water conservation in this district this year must be accepted by July 2. The 1931 act under which the money was appropriated provides that the three counties San Bernardino, Orange and Riverside, must agree to any project for which the money is used east of Tippecanoe street in San Bernardino.

Any project west of Tippecanoe street, or on Lytle creek and its tributaries can be financed from this fund without the unanimous consent of all three counties. Smith said the board acted yesterday to give San Bernardino and Riverside counties an opportunity to plan any work they might be contemplating for the area along Lytle creek.

Smith also denied a recent statement said to have been made by Francis Cattle of the Tri-County Water Conservation association that Smith had pledged Orange county to the storage program under the 1931 act.

Tate Sisters To Start Revival Here This Eve

The Tate Sisters, evangelists, will begin a series of evangelistic services in a tent located at West Fifth and Forest this evening at 7:30 o'clock, the meetings to continue for thirty days, each evening except Monday. The services are non-denominational and therefore the cooperation of all pastors is expected and a special invitation to participate is extended to them.

The Tate sisters closed a ten-day revival at Fullerton May 18 and for the last thirty days have been assisting Rev. M. A. Woods in a series of meetings at Huntington Beach.

Investigate Two Thefts In County

Two robberies were reported to the sheriff's office today. J. W. McIntosh, a butcher who lives in Wintersburg, asked officers to investigate the theft of meats and articles valued at $75 from his slaughterhouse in Wintersburg yesterday.

Entrance to the slaughterhouse was gained by cutting locks on the door of the building and on the cooler where the meats were kept in storage. Meats stolen by the thieves included hams, bacon and beef. The thieves also got away with two knives, some saws and a cleaver.

M. R. Siddons, 117 Green street, Los Alamitos, reported that 25 Rhode Island red chickens had been stolen from his chickenhouse yesterday. Access to the chickenhouse was gained by undermining the ground into the chickenhouse.

Former Jaycee Students Take Over a Weekly

Bob deupree and Glover Hendrickson, former journalism students at Santa Ana junior college, will edit and publish the Coastline Dispatch, San Juan Capistrano weekly, during the summer months, and if successful, will continue throughout the coming year, it was learned today.

The two college students completed arrangements with E. B. deupree, former owner and publisher, last week, and from now on "will operate on their own hook," they say. Hendrickson served as editor-in-chief of the Dispatch, last semester, and deupree was news editor the first semester of the 1931-32 year.

BULLETIN NOT LEGAL PAPER IN SANTA ANA

The Santa Ana Bulletin is not a legal newspaper in Santa Ana. It is illegal for publication of legal notices in this city. Superior Judge H. G. Ames, in a written decision, filed late yesterday, ruled the weekly could be considered a newspaper of general circulation for the publication of county and state notices.

In his decision Judge Ames declared: "If petitioners had sought a decree adjudicating their publication a newspaper of general circulation for the City of Santa Ana or any other political subdivision of Orange county the application would have been denied."

The application sought to have the legal status of the publication defined only as a legal newspaper for the handling of county and state printing. D. G. Wettlin, attorney for Ira Fleming, who questioned the legality of the paper, contended in his argument against granting legality to the Santa Ana Bulletin that the court could not declare a newspaper legal for the county and not the political subdivisions. He contended a newspaper either is or is not a newspaper of general circulation for all legal purposes.

Judge Ames' decision was that "the paper contained the necessary qualifications to be one of general circulation and may become such of the State of California and Orange county with the exclusion of its minor political subdivisions."

Attorney Wettlin announced today that he would appeal the case.

TO DISCUSS REPEAL OF CAL. BOOZE ACT

A. F. Newcomb, field representative of the Anti-Saloon League in California, has been secured to act as the featured speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Santa Ana Breakfast club which will be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in Ketter's cafe. It was announced today by Fred Schweitzer, secretary of the club.

Newcomb has addressed several gatherings in Santa Ana in the past and has earned a reputation here as a forceful speaker who is well acquainted with his subject. He will discuss the question of the repeal of the Wright Act in California at the elections this fall.

The musical part of the program will be provided by Johnny Stout, 8, who will play selections on the violin accompanied at the piano by Olive Schweitzer, who will present piano solos as well.

LAUDS ACTION OF BOARD ON WATER MOVE

Unanimous approval of the action of the board of supervisors in refusing to participate in the proposed $400,000 tri-county water program was given last night in a resolution adopted by the Orange County Coast Association, which met at the Bay Shore Inn, Naples.

The resolution expressed "approbation of said board's action in refusing to spend the public funds at the importuning of private water interests."

This was contained in a report made by Hugh T. O'Connor, Los Alamitos, chairman of the water conservation committee, and was part of a report of a subcommittee, of which Mayor Thomas F. Murphine, of San Clemente, is chairman.

The original resolution, framed before the board's action of Tuesday, expressed "our earnest desire that said board will not in these times of stress yield to the importunings of the aforesaid private water interests and spend any of the public funds for any such private purpose."

Mr. O'Connor called attention to the fact that a county water district is being formed for the six-mile strip between Laguna Beach and Dana Point and that the petition comes before the board of supervisors early in July. "The completion of this organization will clear the way for the water companies and the City of Laguna Beach to arrange proper relief to this very beautiful residential property," Mr. O'Connor said.

Before the report was made, Harry Welch of Newport Beach, secretary of the association, had declared that Hallam Cooley of Three Arch Bay could not be present because a shortage of water had necessitated his meeting with the directors of the Laguna Beach County Water District in an effort to seek immediate relief.

Six Orange county candidates for nomination to legislative offices were introduced by President J. W. Armitage of Sunset Beach. State Senator Nelson T. Edwards, of Orange, running to win the nomination in the new 35th district spoke of "splinters" in the prohibition plank of the Republican party. Assemblyman Ted Craig declared for "judicious economy" in handling state matters. James Utt of Tustin, candidate for the assembly, spoke of the rapid development of the Orange county coast line. Mrs. Louise G. Mock, of Santa Ana, assembly candidate, said she was prepared for office through long study of county and state-wide problems. Mayor Murphine of San Clemente told of having been urged to make the race for assembly by his associates along the coast. Sumner Crosby of Laguna Beach, candidate for the congressional nomination, also spoke briefly.

Councilman J. W. Steele of Long Beach spoke enthusiastically of the cooperation between Long Beach and the Orange county authorities which had resulted in projects of benefit to both. He declared that because of that cooperation four major highways soon will be feeding the Coast highway and Seventeenth street from his home city. He spoke also of the four-party agreement on the San Gabriel flood control project which will prove of benefit to a large area in both counties.

Mayor Elmer J. Hughes and Councilman James Graham of Seal Beach were introduced.

Mrs. N. E. West of Laguna Beach reported progress in a survey of the coast line to determine the amount of money which has been spent for the past five years for improvements of all kinds.

On recommendation of Charles D. Furr, of Huntington Beach, the association will provide trophies for the next golf tournament to be held at San Clemente.

Attorney Clyde Doyle of Long Beach, president of the Recreation Commission of that city, spoke at some length on the history of the Olympiad and plans for the rowing contests to be held on a 2,000-meter course built by the city. He predicted that the course will be extended into Orange county and that in the future national rowing championships will be held there because of the ideal conditions.

Mrs. Ada Crosby of Laguna Beach spoke a few words for the Olympic hostesses. George Macleod of Newport Beach gave facts about the Tournament of Lights, July 16. Hal Warner of Laguna Beach and Dr. C. G. Huston of Costa Mesa spoke of plans for a big celebration to open the newly widened and paved highway from Newport Beach to Dana Point, sometime in the fall.

Chief Howard Is Back from East

Chief of Police Floyd Howard was "back in the harness" today after returning to Santa Ana from a motor trip to St. Louis, Missouri, with his wife and two children. Chief Howard had been gone for about three weeks. Business conditions are much better here than in many of the states traversed in his trip, Chief Howard said, and declared he was glad to get back to Santa Ana.

John L's Kin Is Given Turn-down

Opposed by the district attorney and sheriff, an application for a dance-hall and motion picture permit filed by Frank Sullivan, cousin of the great John L., was denied by the Orange county board of supervisors yesterday. Sullivan had requested permission to operate this place of amusement on West Fifth street, outside the city limits.

5 DRUM CORPS TO COMPETE IN BOWL BENEFIT

Five American Legion Drum and Bugle corps will participate in an elaborate exhibition drill contest at the Santa Ana Bowl Friday evening, as one of the principal features of the Drum Corps party scheduled for that evening. It was announced today by Ernest N. Winbailer, general chairman of the event.

Anahem Legionnaires will be in attendance in large numbers, accompanied by their drum corps, and a large contingent will be here from San Bernardino to boost for the Gate City corps. Also participating will be the Torrance drum corps, whose members proved themselves good sports on the night of the Bowl opening, when they carried on according to schedule, even though half of the men had been delayed by an auto breakdown and could not participate.

The fourth visiting drum corps comes from the Benjamin Bowie post in Los Angeles, all colored, and this will be the first time the snappy negro drum corps and drill team has appeared in Santa Ana. The colored boys, it is understood, cannot get an early start because many of them work until six o'clock, and a police escort is being arranged to enable them to get to Santa Ana Friday evening in time for the competition.

The Drum Corps party is scheduled to start at 7:30, with a baseball game between the Santa Ana and Anahem Legion teams, which is looked upon as a comedy game full of entertainment, due to the age, degree of latitude, and other conditions which it is said affect some of the players. It started out as a "friendly" game, but appears to be developing into something of a "grudge" affair, in which each post hopes to "clean the slate" for past defeats, upsets and insults.

Jimmie Heffron is guiding his Anahem players for the fray, and Frank Corry promises the Santa Ana Legionnaires will "do or die" to stop the visitors. Drum corps members, under the direction of Frank Stowe, are engaged in selling tickets for the big party, and they anticipate the Bowl will be well filled.

SAN CLEMENTE SUES TWO OF ITS OFFICIALS

Refusal of City Treasurer Verne D. Baker and City Clerk William Holmes to sign refunding bonds amounting to $14,500 has resulted in the City of San Clemente, through Mayor Thomas Murphree, in superior court yesterday filing a petition for a writ of mandate against the two city officials.

Hearing on the petition is scheduled for July 2 in department two.

According to the complaint, on March 15, 1932, the trustees of the Spanish Village adopted a resolution ordering an election for the purpose of issuing refunding bonds for refunding warrants amounting to $14,513.33. These bonds, if approved by voters of the community, were to bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent annually.

The election was held on April 11, 1932, according to the complaint and out of 297 qualified voters in the community 266 of them voted and the bond proposal carried 235 to 11.

Proceeds of the bond issue are to be used in refunding outstanding indebtedness of the city as evidenced by warrants. According to the complaint the city is ready to issue and sell the bonds, but Baker, as city treasurer, has refused to sign them and Holmes, the city clerk, has declined his counter-signature.

The writ of mandate is requested on the grounds that public interest, convenience and necessity require immediate sale of the bonds.

The county registers will be open all day and hot coffee served. Tourists from the Badger State are urged to meet old friends this way.

CUTTLE TAKES EXCEPTION TO ELLIOTT'S REPORT ON WATER CONTROL IN UPPER BASIN

(Editor's Note: Following is a letter received from Francis Cuttle, president of the Tri-County Water Conservation association, in which he replies to a report filed with the Orange County supervisors by G. A. Elliott. A reply to the following letter will be made by an interested citizen of this county tomorrow.)

"I have before me copy of the issue of your paper for June 14, 1932, containing a statement with reference to the report of Mr. G. A. Elliott, San Francisco engineer, to the Board of Supervisors of Orange county, and note among other things Mr. Elliott is reported to have advised that Orange county should not participate in the proposed plan of spreading in the Upper Basin, but should prevent, if possible, any further conservation above the lower canyon until an equitable arrangement has been agreed upon by all parties interested that will insure to the various parts of the entire area a fair proportion of the naturally available water.

"Possibly Mr. Elliott does not know that there is already an agreement signed and on record between the boards of supervisors of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties and the Water Conservation association to the effect that no water shall be spread in the Upper Basin until and unless there is water flowing in the Santa Ana river at the Chapman bridge in Orange county, also that the Water Conservation association filed on two amounts of 15,000 and 10,000 acres in October, 1931 (before the organization of the present Division of Water Rights), and also holds a permit from the Division of Water Rights for 48,000 acre feet as of May, 1926, and another permit for 250,000 acre feet as of the date October 25, 1930. The Water Conservation association has been proceeding with due diligence to utilize the water allotted to it under these permits and the directors of the association have no intention of letting these permits lapse for lack of diligence.

"Another interesting statement attributed to Mr. Elliott is to the effect that the water supply of Orange county has been decreased by reason of the conservation of water in the Upper Basin. Not having had the privilege of examining Mr. Elliott's report I am at a loss to know where he gets that information.

"Referring to the report of the Division of Water Rights known as Bulletin 18, pages 254 and 255, we find that there is an incomplete record beginning with the year 1898. From that time down until 1931 there is a record of 29 years, 14 years having been omitted (probably for lack of funds). This record shows in 1888-89 an average of 517 inches of water flowing in the Santa Ana river at the Narrows or Pedley bridge, while the average for the 29 years for which there is a record is 1764 inches. Certainly that does not show a decreased flow of water into Orange county.

"It is true there has been a slight decrease in the flow from the years 1925 to 1931, but these, with the exception of 1927, have been years of less than normal rainfall. As to the effect upon Orange county of spreading water in the Upper Santa Ana Basin, this fact should be kept in mind that the Riverside companies have water rights aggregating 57,000 acre feet annually, so long as they can get this water from the artesian basin and vicinity they do not draw upon the supply in the Riverside or Jurupa Basin, but when they are unable to get the water to which they are entitled from the San Bernardino area they resort to pumping in the Jurupa Basin which has a direct effect upon the supply going into Orange county.

"The purpose of spreading water on the debris cone above the Artesian Basin is to maintain the supply of water at the Artesian Basin. By doing that and using that water for irrigating and domestic purposes in the Riverside area the return water flows uninterrupted into Orange county and that is the reason that the flow into Orange county has increased from 517 inches in 1888-89 to an average of over 1700 inches for the period recorded from 1898 to 1931.

"As authority that this statement is correct, I quote from the United States Geological Survey Paper 142 by W. C. Mendenhall, U.S.G.S., who made a thorough study of this question and was the author of Water Supply Paper 142 published in 1902.

"Speaking of the increase in flow into Orange county Mendenhall says, on page 28, the following:

"This rather remarkable increasing local funds Orange county would be putting up about 10 per cent instead of 83 and 1-3 per cent of the cost.

"I can find no record which substantiates the statement attributed to Mr. Elliott to the effect that the conservation of water in the upper basin reduces the flow into Orange county but I can find plenty of evidence to the contrary. It certainly is a late date now for Orange county to talk of preventing the spreading of water on the debris cone on the upper basin as Orange county has contributed to the construction of the weir for the conservation of this water, has signed an agreement with reference to the spreading of the same and has taken the initiative in securing state aid for this work."

SEEKS ESCAPE FROM "BUNCH OF BATTLES"

According to Mrs. Ventura Nieblas, her husband, J. A. Nieblas, is so jealous of her and has such a violent temper that life with him was just a bunch of battles. She filed suit for an interlocutory decree of divorce yesterday in superior court, charging her husband with extreme cruelty.

She said that on occasions too numerous to mention her husband had struck, choked and abused her and in February this year he struck her in the nose with such force that it bled for some time and for several days was swollen. In April last she accuses her husband of throwing a brilliantine bottle at her. The bottle, she alleges, struck her on the leg, bruising it painfully.

On the day they separated, June 15, last, according to Mrs. Nieblas, her husband became enraged and struck her with a heavy plate which cut her arm so severely that she was forced to seek medical attention. She also charged her husband with calling her vile names and accusing her of familiarity with other men.

Because her husband had threatened to "give her something she could take to the grave with her" if she ever sought a divorce, Mrs. Nieblas in addition to seeking a divorce is asking the court to issue a restraining order preventing her husband from visiting or molesting her.

The couple married September 7, 1927, in Santa Ana and separated June 15 last. There are three children ranging in age from 6 to 9 years whose custody in addition to a monthly allowance for their support is sought by Mrs. Nieblas.

There were 1941 marriages performed in Wyoming in 1929, as compared with 1805 in 1928, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce.

WOMAN INJURED IN AUTO MISHAP

Katherine Beasley, 1807 Spurgeon street, suffered bruises and shock in an automobile accident that happened at Main and Edinger streets at 5:40 o'clock Monday afternoon when cars driven by Robert Beasley and A. F. LeGage, 121 East Washington street crashed, according to records on file at the police station.

The number of persons injured in the county over the past week end was augmented by three today when a report of an accident that happened six feet inside the county line in the Santa Ana canyon Sunday. Theodore Dresch, Mrs. Nellie Dresch and Edward May, all of Los Angeles, were injured when a car they were riding in overturned after skidding on a soft shoulder of the road, according to a report filed at the California Highway patrol office today. Riverside officers handled the case.

SAYS DIVORCE AND INSANITY CLOSELY LINKED

PASADENA, June 22.—Divorce and insanity are closely associated, in findings of the Human Betterment Foundation of this city.

The amount of serious mental diseases among divorcees is found to be three or four times as great as among married people. The Foundation interprets this to mean that a man or woman who is about to have a mental breakdown is a hard person to live with.

"In such cases the divorce may be a good thing for society," says the report, "if it prevents this couple from having children who would inherit this weakness."

"Unfortunately, the mentally diseased part of the population which does not get into the courts on insanity complaints, and therefore is often not recognized as such, seems to have a higher marriage rate as well as a higher divorce rate than the average."

"Persons subject to severe types of mental disease must be educated to avoid marriage, and particularly to avoid child-bearing."

TWO THIRDS RULE MAY GRAB SPOTLIGHT WITH FIGHT AT DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL SHOW

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The funny old two-thirds rule may be the issue in a hot fight again at the Democratic national convention.

If it is ever definitely busted by a convention it probably will be dead for all time. But attempts to get rid of it have been made off and on during the last hundred years, never with success, and the chances are that the rule is going to endure.

The forces of Governor Roosevelt, it appears, are preparing to try to abolish the rule in case their candidate finds himself stuck somewhere between a majority convention vote and the two-thirds required to nominate.

Because the rule is embedded so deeply in party procedure and because all Democratic candidates have been nominated under it, any open declaration for abolishing it at this time would be regarded as a confession of weakness by the Roosevelt leaders.

Actually, they hope to force their way across the line by the sheer weight of the majority which they anticipate on the final ballot.

The attempt to end the rule would be only a measure of desperation designed to save Roosevelt from sharing the fates of Champ Clark and Martin Van Buren, the only two men who ever had a convention majority without being nominated.

The Walsh Angle
Decision of the Roosevelt managers to support one of their own men, Senator Tom Walsh of Montana, for permanent chairman against J. P. Shouse, the Smith-Raskob candidate, is intimately tied up with the two-thirds issue.

The chairmanship fight for Walsh was launched on the assumption that a majority of delegates would follow Roosevelt's wishes in any respect and if an attempt is made to abrogate the rule it can only proceed on the same assumption.

Chairman's Importance
The leanings of the chairman might become important in any rules fight. He is the man who recognizes delegates who want to speak or make motions, who decides what is in order and what is not, who constitutes rules governing the casting of votes, who is in a position not to dominate but to a greater or lesser extent to influence the convention.

The Roosevelt people decided Shouse would do what he could to defeat them.

McAdoo and his managers tried several times to get the unit rule abrogated in 1924, believing they were near enough a majority to go over the top if only a majority were needed. Each time they were defeated by viva voce votes.

"Anti" Arguments
A majority vote to cancel the rule this year would mean that more than half the 1155 delegates were firmly determined to nominate Roosevelt, even if it meant laying him open to the charge that he was the weakest candidate within his own party who had ever been nominated.

Considering the fact that the opposition is constantly trying to hammer in the impression that Roosevelt would be a weak candidate and that many Roosevelt delegates are not of the last ditch type there is much doubt whether the Roosevelt group could get away with it.

Most politicians believe that any successful campaign to rid of the two-thirds rule will have to be organized in advance and carried on through the state conventions prior to the national show.

But it never gets much attention in those conventions. No more than one or two have instructed their state delegations to oppose the rule in the last couple of presidential years—and they were states with small delegations. Pre-convention agitation for abolition rose to considerable height before 1928, both the Smith and McAdoo followers being willing. But it faded long before the convention as Smith became a safe bet.

SCHMELING 'ROBBED' CLAIM CRITICS

DeBusk, Hurling First 'Big Game,' Baffles Anaheim

STARS ANSWER BLEARY CRITICS WITH 4-2 WIN

The Stars are still the Stars—the best "money team" in night baseball. The Santa Anas thrive on delicate situations.

Behind the stalwart pitching of the very young and blond Ira DeBusk, just a year out of the bushes, they checked the rush of Anaheim's inspired Valencia at the Bowl last night.

The score was 4 to 2. It was a victory Santa Ana desired most eagerly. It was the Stars' answer to certain bleary, base rumors circulated during the past few days, especially since their defeat at Olive last Friday.

It was also a personal triumph for young DeBusk. Working his first "big game," the former Huntington Beach high school lad pitched with all the poise, nonchalance and skill of a professional veteran after two wobbly innings.

Improves With Age Once out of the hole, DeBusk just breezed through the old ball game, growing stronger as the thing progressed. The summary gave him nine strikeouts, his opposition five hits all of which were gathered in the first three innings. The last man to hit safely off the blond blizzard was Al Kohler, the first batter in the third inning. He expired at second base. Nobody else got that far off DeBusk.

Both of Anaheim's runs came in the first inning. McNabb, leadoff man, was safe when Second Base man George Preble let an easy roller-trickie through his legs. Schrott popped out but Higgins sent McNabb to third with a Texas League double to shallow right field. Kohler rifled a single to center that scored both McNabb and Higgins. Mane was safe on Hill's error but Bell offensively bunted into a double play. Leavitt Daulty to Ed Daley to Preble.

Anaheim loaded the pathways again in the second on Lemon's walk and singles by Errington and McNabb but DeBusk proved his mettle in this early crisis by fanning the dangerous Schrott and retiring the angular Higgins on a feeble popup to Preble.

Errington Often in Trouble That was the last time Anaheim threatened. DeBusk's change of pace

PIPING 'EM OFF

Manager George Lackaye gave the Santa Ana Stars a regular rain-rat "fight back" before the game. It was one of those football-season dressing room affairs. Lackaye wasn't fooling. Lackaye also took the opportunity to brand as false certain stories about "chickadees" in the Santa Ana ranks which followed the release of infielders Scott and Sullivan.

Olive stopped Santa Ana's league winning streak at 11, then Santa Ana turned right around and terminated Anaheim's successive victories at 7. And they say 7 and 11 are lucky numbers.

Is "baseball" a suitable evening for "baseball"? Santa Ana is going to make the blindfold test at the Bowl Saturday. Ingleswood rated as the outstanding independent team of its vicinity, will play here.

Al Kohler, Anaheim's curly-haired captain and third baseman, is just about the league's best player this year. He got two nice singles and a walk out of four times last night. The only time he went out was on a line drive which George Preble made a dandy catch.

Santa Ana fans thought Umpire "Shorty" Smith was missing "en back" of the plate, and roared their disapproval when the official called Daley out at the plate on a double play in the fifth. Some were screaming: "Who did you think you are, Gunboat Smith?"

The season's biggest crowd turned out for the second of four seasons encounters between Santa Ana and Anaheim. The turnout was estimated at 3200.

Orv Schuchardt broke into the game as a pinch-hitter for Max Moody in Anaheim's sixth inning. He popped out, and also sicked out his next at bat. Mane and Bell, other ex-Santa Anas, didn't have much luck with DeBusk either. They also went hitless.

Ed Daley's batting average isn't so much this year but the handsome first baseman can still click "em against Anaheim. He drove in what might have proved the winning run last night. The boys will never forget what he did at Anaheim last year.

Double plays are rather rare in the short-base game but Anaheim completed two and Santa Ana one.

Santa Ana travels to Whittier Friday to wind up the first half of the split season.

OLYMPIC HOPES

by CLARE BURCKY

A giant "Hooray!" for the giant Hugh Rhea, if and when he comes through with a toss in the Olympic games similar to the one he unloaded in the National Collegiate shot put.

It begins to look more and more like the great open spaces will produce another Olympic shot put champion. Burly John Kuok, behemoth from Kansas, won the 1928 title, establishing an Olympic record of 52 feet and 11-16 of an inch. And now Rhea, a Nebraska Cornhusker, surpasses that mark in qualifying for the final Olympic trials at Stanford next month.

Rhea isn't a new figure in sports. He's the latest descendant in that long line of Nebraska's All-America football tackles. For two years he has been on the verge of breaking into the select circle of shot putters.

The Cornhusker's track campaign began inauspiciously this year with a triumph in the shot put of the Kansas Relays. He succeeded 47 feet by an eighth of an inch in defeating Clarence Munn of Minnesota, among others, at the Kansas games.

A week later in the Drake relays of April 30, Rhea heaved the 16-pound ball 50 feet 1-3 inch to win the title. He distanced his nearest rival almost three feet. The official world record in the shot put is seven-and-a-fraction inches over 52 feet. Rhea pushed the ball 52 feet 5-3 inches in winning his National Collegiate title. He bettered the previous record by more than a foot. He outdistanced his competitors by more than three

And if he has any more of those 52-foot efforts in his system, he has nothing to fear in the final Olympic trials.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This must be the inquisitive season. For several weeks questions from readers have been piling up. Accordingly, this bureau takes the day off to give a few answers, right or wrong. Now go on with the story:

Why did McGraw quit? Because his players got tired of people peeking through keyholes at them to make sure that they ate all their vegetables.

Can the Reds win a National league pennant this year? Not with that pitching staff.

Have the Braves been playing over their heads? Yes, the Braves have been playing very far over their heads.

How about those Dodgers? If the Cubs split, the Dodgers will win the pennant.

Is this rookie, Vaughan, of the Pirates, a good ball player? Mr. Vaughan, the shortstop of the Pirates, is very green insofar as fielding a batted ball is concerned. But he is a natural hitter.

Offhand, after seeing him in two games, this bureau would say that he is a good ball player. Who won the National Open championship? Provided your Uncle Abner decides not to play, the open will be won by a man named Max Smith.

Is Burgeo King the best 3-year-old? Burgeo King is no better than Economic.

Will Danny MacFadden win the pennant for the Yankees? No, he will not win the pennant for the Yankees but he will come very close. The reason he won't is because the Athletics will win the pennant in that league.

What is the relationship between the Cardinals and the Reds? I wish I knew, and so does Judge Landis.

Who is the wrestling champion of the world? Well, now, I just wish you had not asked me that, folks.

Is Bill Terry a good manager? Bill Terry is no better manager than Lew Fonseca of the White Sox.

But Lew Fonseca is a rattling good manager, at that. If you had a ball club, and wanted to win a series from a major league team, which team would you prefer not to play?

This bureau would prefer not to play the Athletics but would be pleased and honored to play the Boston Red Sox.

Is Ben Eastman all that let's cracked up to be? You can get odds from most of the track coaches in this country that Ben Eastman will not win one event in the Olympic games because he will be all tired out.

The Athletics will not go anywhere this year unless one young man quits clowning and goes to work. That man is George Earnshaw, who can take his baseball or leave it alone. Lately George has been leaving it alone.

Here is a gent who can be the best pitcher in the league (except Grove, if you wish) when he wants to be. Yet for weeks at a time he will do as little pitching as possible and go through his routine assuming an attitude of studied and comical nonchalance. "For a college man," said Connie Mack the other day, "George certainly does a lot of funny things."

Mr. Mack was asked what was wrong with the Big Moose. "Darned if I know," Mack replied, and when he said it he wasn't smiling.

JUST FOOLING

A few weeks ago, Earnshaw and Grove were tied with seven victories apiece. As Grove continued to run his string, George lapsed into the attitude of refined languor that might be expected of a country gentleman taking an afternoon off to name a new litter of hounds.

He would stand in the batter's box with his hands on one shoulder, heid loosely in his right hand, peering laconically at pitches, never essaying to wave his wand.

JUST A FEW HOMERS!

In one game the Yankees combed him for eight hits in five innings. After the game George jovially remarked: "Why, that isn't bad. They only got three singles off me. The other five hits were home runs."

Watching Earnshaw go about his stint recently, it is almost impossible to believe he was the ogre who stood the Cardinals on their ears in the 1930 world series.

NEEDS INCENTIVE

George was walked once this year. He walked painfully to first. After the inning he said, "I guess that pitcher is trying to get me all tired out running around the bases."

George has wealthy connections in Philadelphia. He is a social registerite, and related to the Quaker City's very most bon ton families. He is one of the few ball players in any league who knows what to do with an article.

But he just can't seem to find an incentive to pitch.

ONLY A LITTLE FUN

Earnshaw limped painfully after a collision during the second game of the 1930 world series. There were grave fears for his foot. After every inning, Doc Ebbing, trainer, anxiously examined the injured member.

Then, after the last out was made, George skipped and danced to the clubhouse.

"My foot!" he replied to eager questions. "Nothing at all. I limped around a little because I'm just naturally a clown, I guess. Just 'needing' the Cardinals a little."

IN THE POLICE LINEUP

Last August, Big George lured "Mickey" Cochrane, Roger Cramer and Earl Mack, son of the manager, to go with him to a police station and pose in a police lineup for a joke.

The joke became a little more than an idle prank when a woman identified Earnshaw as a robber who had looted her apartment stealing a watch and a camera among other things.

The woman still refuses to believe the police statement of Earnshaw's identity.

SHARKEY SAYS HE'S READY TO DEFEND CROWN

BY STUART CAMERON (United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 22.—(UP)—Jack Sharkey today challenged the heavyweight fighters of the world to come and get the world's championship he took from Max Schmeling last night—a title many critics said should have remained the German's.

Within 15 minutes after two judges decided Jack had defeated the dark-haired German champion—thereby restoring the title to the United States—Sharkey announced he would be a "fighting champion."

"I won the title honestly," he said. "Now I will defend it. I will be a fighting champion."

What matter to him the boos the crowd gave him? "I'm going back to Boston and will decide on my next plans. But you can say for me that I will keep on fighting."

The crowd was not happy that "Gunboat" Smith, the referee, and George Kelly, a judge, overruled Charley Mathison, who thought Schmeling had won.

Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, called the decision a "robbery." He recalled that last week he threatened to keep his man from the ring if "a certain man" was referee. Today he said he meant "Gunboat" Smith. Joe, however, did not keep "this man" from the ring, nor did he protest formally the selection of the gunboat.

It was all Sharkey at the outset. He flicked that long left arm constantly in Schmeling's face. He was on defensive, a strange picture of the contender waiting for the champion to come on. His right arm was held cocked, ready to go, but never seemed to have anywhere to go.

There was little excitement in the ring, or in the crowd. Schmeling seemed confused. And so it went up to the tenth round. Then Schmeling seemed to recall that he had a left. He tried it a few times and it worked.

Sharkey's Eye Closed From then on, the big bout became more of a fight. Sharkey's left eye began to close. "The worst trouble I had with Schmeling," Sharkey said afterwards, "was that he hit so fast coming out."

The crowd became more excited. There were cheers. In the 14th and 15th rounds there was a lull in the action. Sharkey seemed tired. The young German from the black forests seemed untiring.

Sharkey, the boxer, made Max miss frequently. Once Max had a perfect set up for a short right uppercut. He seemed so amazed that the blow he tried to deliver brought laughter because of its weakness.

Schmeling peeked and hammered away at the contender's left eye, almost closing it in the final round.

The crowd was cheering as the fight ended. They stood, Joe Humphries walked from judge to judge, then to the referee. All were silent as he held up his hand and announced:

"The winner and the new..." That's all the crowd could hear. There was tumult—cheers and jeers. Sharkey had to fight off his admirers. Johnny Buckley, his manager, held him to keep him from dashing about with joy.

SHIELDS, ALLISON, VAN RYN WIN MATCHES AT WIMBLEDON

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 22.—(UP)—The procession of American victories in the British tennis tournament continued today.

The day was ideal for tennis. A hot sun beat down on the courts. Frank Shields was never forced to extend himself in defeating N. Taylor of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, but Wilmer Allison found the going a little tough against Ignace Tiocumski, Polish champion. Allison had a hard time striking his usual form but finished strong as he won out by scores of 8-6, 6-3, 6-2. Van Ryn, although still far off his usual game, won from J. D. P. Wheatley of England, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, California, advanced to the fourth round with a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Miss W. M. C. Bower, left-handed British star.

The first upset in the third day's play occurred when George Hughes, British Davis Cup star, lost to Rod-

SARAZEN PAGES GOLF STARS IN LAST PRACTICE

BY LEO PETERSEN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

FLUSHING, N. Y., June 22.—(UP)—Bobby Jones, playing a round just for fun, and Gene Sarazen, paced contestants in the National Open golf championship on their final practice shots today.

Jones and Sarazen, fresh from his triumph in the 1932 British Open, were engaging in an informal exhibition match.

Most of the field had arrived this morning, and practically every one of the 151 entrants will make the final preliminary tour of the lengthy and difficult Fresh Meadow club course. The championship play begins tomorrow.

The threat lodged against the club management for its refusal to be party to a pari-mutuel betting scheme on the tournament outcome appeared to have been dissipated.

The tournament shaped up as a real thriller, most of the foreign threat will be made by Jose Jurado, small-statured Argentine professional, who came within an ace of winning the British title last year.

The other invader is Tomakiki Miyamoto, former Japanese champion. The Japanese plays a nice game of golf, but only by "going crazy" could he be given even an outside chance of winning the Open.

Chief pre-tournament speculations centered on Sarazen, George Von Elm, Mac Smith and Tommy Armour.

Sarazen is playing some of the best golf of his career, and 10 years after he won his first and only U. S. Open title, has the best chance of any player in the field. Von Elm runnerup to Billy Burke last year, is a dangerous threat. Chances held by Mac Smith are well liked by many of his brother pros. Tommy Armour, former British and U. S. Open champion, is rated among the first ten.

MAN DIES HEARING BROADCAST OF BOUT

DENVER, June 22.—(UP)—Convinced that Jack Sharkey was being defeated by Max Schmeling, Michael Carey, 88, dropped dead here last night while listening to a broadcast of the championship fight.

"My God, Sharkey has lost," Carey cried during the 14th round of the fight. He arose from his chair, tottered a few steps, and fell to the floor.

While his daughter frantically telephoned for a police surgeon, the radio announcer shouted word of Sharkey's victory.

Carey did not hear—he was dead.

GREYHOUND RACING OVAL TO BE OPENED

CULVER CITY, June 22.—(UP)—Greyhound racing will make its Southern California debut tonight when the Culver City Kennel club opens with a 10-race program.

Hounds will chase the mechanical bunny over courses ranging from 3-16ths to 5-16ths of a mile. The sixth race tonight, which brings together War Cry and Laddie, is featured. Both dogs have equaled the world's record of 22-4-5 seconds for the quarter-mile.

Santa Ana at Whittier; Huntington Beach at Anaheim; Torrance at Long Beach; Olive at Westminster.

Fighting desperately for the glory and gold of second place in the National Night league, Westminster defeated Huntington Beach, 7-3, at Huntington Beach last night and moved into a tie with Anaheim which lost to Santa Ana.

Whittier, with a chance to make it a triple tie behind the Stars, was bumped off by Torrance in an 11-inning thriller, 7-6.

The Westminster-Huntington Beach bout was played in a dense fog which occasionally troubled the outfielders, especially on high fly balls.

Westminster got away to a good start, scoring twice in the second inning when Hunter singled. Starkey walked. Sauer singled and "Hack" Wilson doubled Hunter and Starkey across. Singles by Starkey and Gardner, Wilson's sacrifice and a passed ball yielded one in the sixth.

The Flyers salted the decision in the seventh, scoring thrice on Saulsbury's double, Hunter's pass, Davis' life on an error, a passed ball and Bill Gardner's double. The final Westminster run came in the eighth on Saulsbury's single.

Young Joe Nichols, 16-year-old Woodrow Wilson high school boy of Long Beach, has started on the trail that Bobby Jones followed to a "grand slam" in the realm of golf.

When 150 men tee off tomorrow at Fresh Meadow, Flushing, Long Island, in quest of the National Open championship, young Joe will be one of 10 amateurs in the field—and the youngest of all the contestants. It will be his first bid for the national title.

Nichols' golfing career, beginning when he was 13, has brought him hurriedly into the National Open picture at 16, two years the junior of Jones when he first attracted attention in the Open. The youngster's first triumph was gained in a caddy tournament, which was closely followed by the city junior championship. In a year he had won the Long Beach city title.

Joe was good enough at 15 to make the trip to the National Public Links championship at St. Paul. He reached the finals. Chicago's city championship tournament came a week later, and in that young Joe again finished as the runnerup.

Southern California was allotted three qualifiers in the Open, and Joe took one of them. After hobnobbing with the greatest players in the game at Fresh Meadow, he will return to Louisville, Ky., for the Public Links tournament, to Chicago for the city championship, to St. Paul for the Open, and home to finish his final year in high school.

"What a pip of a vacation!" says Joe.

RELIEF BODIES TO SUBMIT NEW BUDGETS SOON

Budgets of participating organizations in the Santa Ana Community Chest are reported ready for submission and probably will be considered at a meeting of chest directors to be held late this week. It was indicated today by William Tway, chairman of the chest board of directors.

These budgets include the Y. M. C. A.; Y. W. C. A.; Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Children's Home and the Ruth Home, the latter two providing only for care of a certain number of inmates.

The big question before directors of the chest, however, is whether or not there will be a united campaign under the chest to include unemployment relief or whether a separate campaign for this kind of relief will be undertaken by the Citizens Relief Committee. This question is expected to be decided at a meeting of the Citizens Relief Committee scheduled for 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Pending this decision chest directors have been holding up consideration of their budget for the coming year. It was reported.

At a recent meeting of Community Chest officials from the Pacific coast from San Diego to Seattle and at Riverside, and attended by President Tway, reports were given showing that wherever this two-year campaign, that is, Unemployment relief coupled with ordinary activities of the chest, it has been a success, according to Mr. Tway. This is in line with the whole story of Community Chests which are designed to combine all such campaigns into one great campaign eliminating the nuisance of many different campaigns by organizations at cross purposes, according to Mr. Tway.

Sir:

When I think of the many great newspapers, statesmen, and men of position and power in this land of plenty, and balance their accomplishments on the scales of justice with the millions of unemployed, begging, praying and fighting for work, it makes me feel like humanity, philanthropy and patriotism are forgotten words in the English language.

Thinking of the many newspapers that have refused to allow the discussion of the question—voting a job to the unemployed—in the last ten years, I wonder if little Fate will require a revolution before Americans admit Edwin Markham was right when he wrote me "The first inalienable right of man is the right to work." Like the Declaration of Independence his letter to me was one constant thrill.

The old Irishman who slept on a handful of feathers on a rock did not like a feather bed, but our politicians and statesmen seem to think a few hours work is good enough for millions of men who have been looking around the corner so long their shoes are worn out and their necks are crooked.

Why can't Uncle Sam start his printing machines going and stack $10 or 100 billion dollars away. Give every man a useful job, pay off these old soldiers, pay off the bondholders and tell the money lenders there is something in the matter with their heads (and other places too) when they think they can mortgage Him and Us in times of plenty? What would our Congress do if we were afflicted with famine for a year or two?

Don't call this radical stuff, but call for more of it.

Three Plans Are Proposed For Emergency Relief

DONATIONS BY THOSE WORKING IS PREFERRED

Merchants and employees of all business firms in Santa Ana will be asked for their reactions in regard to three different plans for raising funds for the purchase of necessary food supplies and other necessities as a result of a decision made by the Emergency Relief committee at a meeting held late yesterday afternoon in the old Willard school building on North Main street.

The three plans for raising funds suggested are as follows:

1. Staggering work in businesses of the city to spread employment among greater numbers.
2. Voting a bond issue to provide funds.
3. Donation of one per cent of wages of all employees of business firms in the city for relief funds.

Definite action will be taken by the relief committee to obtain the reactions of business men and employees of the city to the three suggested plans. The third plan was favored by members of the committee. Staggering employment would mean too great a complication and resultant inefficiency among businesses, the committee believed. While many cities are planning to vote on bond issues for relief funds, the plan was not approved by the committee. The advisability of joining the Community Chest to stage the relief group drive jointly with other organizations was discussed.

A total of $3095 will be transferred to the Emergency Relief committee from the old Citizens' Emergency Relief committee within the next few days, according to a statement made by Herbert Rankin, chairman of the old committee. An audit of the books of the old group has been completed and was filed with the new committee yesterday. The audit showed that the old committee operated with a 19 per cent overhead expense.

The $1800 fund which was set aside by the Breakfast club and which was secured through a benefit show will be handled by a separate committee headed by Rankin. Mrs. Edith Ritter, who is in charge of the distribution of food to children of the city through the use of the money, expects to serve the first meal to several hundred children Monday.

Chairman J. S. Smart read two letters which will be sent to subscribers to the two drives which were conducted by the old committee. The letter states that the committee hopes to postpone a drive for funds until September or October, points out that no money is to be spent for administration and asks that subscribers cancel not immediately use the labor subscribed for in pledges. The second letter will be addressed to subscribers who have not yet paid their pledges and asks them if they cannot do so. The amount left in this division totals $884.

To Pay Goodwill
A motion was passed authorizing the payment of $419 to the insurance fund of the Goodwill Industries.

The committee agreed to continue to employ the two women who worked in the office of the old committee. They are both to work five hours a day.

Complications encountered through the fact that the Salvation Army, the Goodwill store and the Unemployment association are all distributing free bread were discussed, but no action was taken on the discontinuance of the bread program from the Unemployed commissary.

Plans for continuing the garden planting program which was started under the auspices of the old committee, were discussed. This phase of the relief activities should be pushed to the limit during the next six months, according to a recommendation made by Chairman Smart.

A letter from Wayne Goble commending the relief group for their activities and program was read.

Webster Plan Disapproved
The committee disapproved of a plan outlined by W. A. Webster to sell tickets to banquets and use the money to build houses in the city and to give one house away which would be built with the funds provided by the banquets.

The committee decided to meet each Tuesday at 4 p. m. in the old Willard school building.

It was decided to make public a request for all stores in the city which have food left over which they cannot sell to telephone the relief group at 5610 and notify them so that it may be picked up and distributed to needy families instead of being consigned to the waste buckets. Donations of clothing and many other goods are needed, also.

An abundance of competent help can be secured from the association. It was pointed out, and the committee is particular of the men and women sent out. That all of the people given employment have proven to be satisfactory was attested in letters read yesterday and by verbal statements.

CALIFORNIAN STUDIES N. Y. HONEY MARKET

Word has just been received from the University of California by the farm advisor's office that Edwin C. Voorhies, college of agriculture, arrived in New York last week to study marketing outlets in the east for honey production in California. This market study is being carried on jointly by the Pacific Coast Bee Culture Field Station, United States Department of Agriculture, Davis; and the Glanville Foundation of Agricultural Economics, College of Agriculture, University of California.

Professor Voorhies' findings in eastern markets, together with a preliminary study made in the San Francisco and Los Angeles markets, will be anticipated, have a close bearing on marketing practices of California honey producers.

Included in Voorhies' study are investigations of various grades, standards, size and character of containers, labels, brands, prices, seasonal demands, and other factors upon which consumer demand depends. Recommendations for improving selling methods will be incorporated in Professor Voorhies' report, which will be summarized upon completion of the study, and make available to the honey producers of the state.

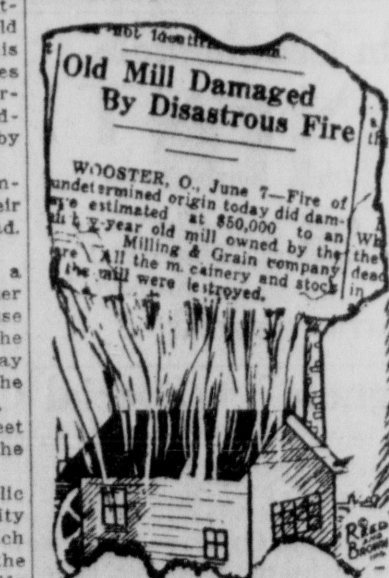

Farm Advisor Wahlberg is asking Professor Voorhies to meet with the Orange County beekeepers the next time he comes to Southern California.

Bean Directors Meet Tomorrow

The regular quarterly meeting of the directors of the bean department of the Orange County Farm Bureau is to be held in the Washington school, 1012 North Main street, Santa Ana, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Reports will be made on the variety test plots which the department is conducting with the assistance of the Farm Advisor's office. Arrangements will be made for the annual bean department field day, in addition to the regular business of the department, of which Vernon C. Hell of Smeitzer is chairman.

MIDAS TOUCH OF MCCORMAC'S TUTOR IS TOLD

"News" says the journalism prof, "is something startling, unusual" as he illustrated with the man biting a dog, but J. W. McCormac, head of the Orange County Business College, is responsible for this variation of that old theme, and it's all about a school teacher getting rich.

The fortunate teacher is E. Virgil Neal, McCormac's old professor at the Sedalia Normal School at Sedalia, Missouri, and later fellow faculty members at Central Business College at Sedalia. McCormac is still teaching, but Neal decided to apply what he learned in the school room to practical purposes. Now he is a multimillionaire in France with a 35-room chateau on a 35 acre estate at Nice, France; ten expensive automobiles for the pleasure of his wife and seven-year-old son, 40 gardeners and 75 servants to keep his house in order.

The news of Neal's good fortune was brought to McCormac through Fred W. Tamblin, another veteran of the Central Business College faculty who worked with Mr. Neal when as a teacher his pants were liable to be constantly in need of a good pressing. Tamblin now teaches penmanship at Kansas City. Recently he returned from France, where he was a guest of Neal at the latter's estate and the news came to McCormac through a story of Tamblin's trip published in the Kansas City Journal-Post.

Hypnotism Enriches Him
When Neal quit teaching he became a hypnotist and with his wife went on the road with a show. People flocked to see him. Seeing the interest in hypnotism he published a book on the subject and from its sale made his first fortune. Then he started a school of hypnotism at Rochester, It was an immediate success and in a short time he sold it to a former faculty fellow at the Sedalia Business College for $50,000. Returning to the role of a teacher he next compiled a text book on bookkeeping which was sold to the American Book Company and netted him a third of a million dollars.

In the meantime Neal had conceived the idea of medical treatment by mail. He arranged with a prominent Detroit chemical plant producing medicinal supplies for the loan of their head chemist for 60 days. In that time he perfected formulas for the compounding of medicines for all ordinary common diseases. His next step was to advertise the treatment by mail for $1 per month. Within four years he had a million patients and a million more in prospect. His success startled the New York Medical Society which immediately took steps to try to put him out of business by having the post-office department issue a fraud order against him. The order stopped his business and court costs took most of his fortune, but the trial judge ruled in his favor. The fight lasted so long, however, that the business was wrecked, so Neal started a new one with the same formula.

War Wrecks Him
He established a cosmetics business selling his product in drug stores and barber shops. He branched into the manufacture of perfume, face powder and creams and established offices in New York, London, Paris, Moscow, Berlin and Vienna, and within a short time had a bigger fortune than before. Then the World War broke out and wrecked that business.

Returning to Detroit, Neal renewed his relations with the chemical company to put on the market a Nuxated iron tonic from a formula he had compounded. The first year his profits were $1,000,000 and more than that annually for the next seven years when he sold out for another million, and went to France where he established his old cosmetics business which had been wrecked by the war. Now his product is marketed in 13 European countries and he has factories all over the country. He has a new one in London which he has never seen. When he wants to confer with his factory heads he has them come to his home in Nice. He works from 2 p. m. to 11 p. m. with a stenographer on duty all the time. In the morning he is hard to see because that is the time he uses to think, according to the Kansas City paper's account.

CONTINUATION OF HORSE SHOWS SURE

Continuation of the free horse Kellogg arabian horse ranch near shows on Sunday afternoon at the Pomona was announced today by Dean C. B. Hutchinson of the College of Agriculture at the University of Southern California. The ranch was recently presented to the state by W. K. Kellogg and will in the future be known as "The W. K. Kellogg Institute of Animal Husbandry of the University of California".

LOCAL JOURNAL STUDENTS MAY REJECT FRAT

Instead of joining Sigma Tau Epsilon, national organization for junior colleges, journalism students of Santa Ana junior college may combine with eligible Santa Ana high school students in applying for membership in Quill and Scroll, national society for high school and junior colleges, Edgar M. Flowers, head of the journalism department, announced today.

According to Instructor Flowers, stringent eligibility rules now governing Sigma Tau Epsilon would admit only a few outstanding students, and would defeat his purpose of "giving the average student a chance for participation." Students must have contributed outstanding work to their publication in order to join Quill and Scroll, but the restrictions are not so great, and the financial part is more favorable, it is said.

Although preferring Quill and Scroll, Flowers said that he would take no action until a meeting of high school and junior college students could be arranged and the advantages of both societies outlined. It is evident that an other organization, to work in conjunction with the already-formed Press club, is needed, Flowers states. Purely social in nature, the Press club does not have time to promote a satisfactory educational program along with its other activities. Membership in this club also is unlimited. With a Quill and Scroll chapter, students could prepare educational programs, alternate their meetings, and enjoy the Press club socials throughout the semester, it was pointed out.

A committee of Gene Robb, newly-elected editor of El Don, junior college publication; Glover Hendrickson and Paul Wright, former El Don editors; and Lawrence Taylor, editor of the Generator, high school weekly, has been appointed and in a meeting this summer will decide which organization Santa Ana junior college will join. Although editing the high school paper next fall, Taylor will be enrolled at the junior college.

Dean Hutchinson said. It will continue under the management of H. M. Reese who held that position under Mr. Kellogg's ownership, but it will be administered by the College of Agriculture through the division of animal husbandry. There will be few changes at the ranch, at least for the present.

SEEKS MAIDEN FAIR FOR CHI WORLD'S FAIR

Orange county girls who typify the "charm, sunshine and hospitality" of California are going to get a "break" with directors of the California state fair.

A search is now being made by the state fair directors for the California girl who best typifies these charms. When they find her, they will bestow upon her the title, "Miss California," and a free trip to Chicago, where she will reign as queen of the California exhibit at the World's Fair in 1933. A full week in the windy city will be provided for this fortunate miss at no cost to herself, but a lot of honors.

Each county in the state is requested to send a girl to the state fair this year to compete for the honor and arrangements are in charge of the World's Fair commission of California.

The commission has spent $40,000 for the rent of 8000 square feet of floor space in the state building at the Chicago exhibit, where will be arranged an exhibit depicting all of California's various resources and products. It was announced at Sacramento today.

Members of the commission are Leland W. Cutler, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Adolfo Camarillo, Ventura; G. A. Davidson, San Diego; Fred W. Kiesel, Sacramento; A. B. Miller, Chico and Theodore Hardee.

SMOKE CONTROL FOR ORCHARDS BEING TESTED

The orchard heater testing equipment was kept busy the entire time it was set up in Tustin last week, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg. The equipment, designed by the Engineering Division of the University of California, was brought and set up in Orange county by the Agricultural Extension service to assist growers in determining the comparative output of smoke of various types of heaters.

In some counties ordinances have been passed to reduce the amount of smoke by outlawing the heaters which produce more than 20 grams of carbon through smoke per pound of fuel consumed. Such limitations would remove only the most flagrant smoke pots.

The later designs of heaters have materially cut down smoke output and with reasonable adjustment and management only the minimum of smoke will be produced. Some 20,000 tests have been made with the equipment used at the testing demonstration last week, according to Farm Advisor Wahlberg.

In last week's tests the range of smoke tests was from 2 grams to 18 grams per pound of fuel. Two grams is hardly visible, five grams is considered good, 10 grams fair, and 20 grams poor but still tolerable from the standpoint of present ordinances. No step has been taken towards legal regulation in Orange county, for the large majority of the heaters are of the modern type. The Agricultural Extension Service is endeavoring, through field demonstrations, to reduce the smoke nuisance by educational means.

Better heater management and selection of fuel will go a long way in this direction. The largest survey shows approximately 4500 acres of citrus in Orange county equipped with orchard heaters. This is about 7 per cent of the total citrus area in the county.

The facilities of the Tustin Frost Protective league were made available for the demonstration through the courtesy of Ross Shaffer, its president.

Dinner Party Given In Compliment to Bride-elect

Among the events which have been given in honor of Miss Ruth Swanson, bride-elect of Carl Lykke, none has been more interesting than the little dinner party with which Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dickey entertained last night in their home, 2414 French street.

The group present included Miss Swanson, Mrs. Lykke, Miss Martha Tadlock, who is to be maid of honor at the wedding; George Daves, who is to be one of the ushers, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Dickey. The wedding of the young couple is to take place Thursday, June 23.

Snagdragons centered the table, which was appointed with dainty delfs. Lighted tapers on the buffet and table, nut cups and placecards all were in keeping with a pastel theme. Roses and other flowers were arranged throughout the rooms.

The evening was spent informally.

Enjoyable Events in Moose Circles

Women of Moose Meet.—Members and guests of the Women of the Moose held a pleasant affair recently when they gathered at the home of Mrs. Millie West on West Edinger street for a covered dish dinner.

The menu arranged in this manner was a varied and delicious one and was served at noon, with card games as the diversion of the subsequent afternoon. The games were varied by quilt piecing and when the blocks were completed and set together, the quilt was presented to Mrs. Helga Travis, who is leaving soon for Eugene, Ore.

The day proved so enjoyable that it was decided to meet at regular intervals, the next hostess to be Mrs. Ora Summers who will open her home on Lemon Heights to the informal club on July 13.

Those present at Mrs. West's home were Mesdames Eva Spray, Helga Travis, Noy Arnold, Rose Bauer, Estella Cashdollar, Della Busch, Ora Summers, Faye Lucas, Eva Vlahos, Millie West, Myrtle Underwood and four special guests, Mrs. Cora Loveland of Lincoln, Neb., Mrs. Bee Gilbert, Mrs. Bertha Dixon and Mrs. Ethel Irwin.

Farewell Picnic.—Complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Guy Travis and Mr. and Mrs. Birdall and their families, who will leave soon to make their homes in Eugene, Ore., was an enjoyable picnic held Sunday in Irvine park by the members of the Loyal Order of Moose and their wives and families.

Seventy-five people were in attendance at the enjoyable affair taking such well-filled baskets that both dinner and supper were served on the long picnic tables at the park.

Son of Former S. A. Pastor Weds in San Jose

With the arrival here this week end of Mrs. Stevenson, wife of the Rev. J. A. Stevenson, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, the many Santa Ana friends of the family expressed the keenest interest in learning details of the wedding of James Stevenson, younger son of the former Santa Ana, which took place in San Jose the evening of May 27. Mrs. Stevenson, who has been visiting the Harry Lewises and the Dr. J. I. Clarke during her brief sojourn in this city, expects to leave tomorrow for Denver, Colo., where she will join her husband. From Denver the Stevensons will continue east to Pennsylvania, where the Rev. Mr. Stevenson, a member of the Board of Christian Education of his denomination, will be occupied for an indefinite period.

Only members of the immediate families witnessed the marriage of the younger Mr. Stevenson, whose bride was Miss Luella Hayes, San Jose, a former student at the Santa Teachers' college in that city and for several years secretary to the president of this institution. Officiating at the service was Dr. E. M. Campbell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of San Jose, with which the Rev. Mr. Stevenson has been affiliated.

Graduating last August from the University of California at Berkeley, Mr. Stevenson, who began his preparatory work in the Santa Ana high school, and later studied two years at the San Jose Junior college, accepted a position as salesman with the Pacific Gas and Electric company in San Jose. The newlyweds will reside in the apartment in which they were married, which is located in the same block as is that of Mr. Stevenson's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stevenson. A brief honeymoon was spent in Carmel-by-the-Sea, before the bridal pair returned to establish residence in San Jose.

Luncheon over, members pursued such amusement as their whims dictated, spending a leisurely afternoon about cottage and beach while the children in the party, guests for the day, enjoyed a swim.

The two hostesses had as party assistants Mrs. Summers' daughters, Mrs. Richard Emison and Mrs. Harvey Smith, while special guests at the beach affair were Mrs. Harl S. General Reviews Given Of Books Selected For Vacation

In bringing to a conclusion their year of study and analysis of the current output of writers, members of Ebells First Book Review section adopted a novel and entertaining plan for their season yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. William E. Otis, 2226 Victoria drive. This was to present in condensed form, summaries of various books selected for "pleasant summer reading," with each member to outline briefly, the points in any book she might suggest.

The plan was considered a most successful one, as one member after another cited high lights in books of widely varied theme. These ranged from the stirring "Way of the Lancer" to Ingalls Fletcher's "Red Jasmine"; "That Was Yesterday" by Storm Jameson; "The Lady Godiva" by "Of Thee I Sing"; "Captain Archer's Daughter," and many, many others.

Mrs. John Cloyes, retiring leader, and her successor, Mrs. Loyal King, each presented books suggested for more serious reading, the latter citing among many others, "Life of Emerson," "Thunder and Dawn," "Planned Society," "Once a Grand Duke," "America as Americans See It," and "Hitlerism," while Mrs. Cloyes suggested that included "Goethe, Man and Poet," "Adventures of a Novelist," the Gertrude Atherton autobiography, "Francis the First," "Saints and Sinners," and "Two Canoe Gypsies."

In different vein were Miss Martha Ritchey's magazine reviews, including "Phillips and Christopher Discover America," and the book reviews from recent Atlantic Monthly, also the Pulitzer prize winning book of poetry, George Dillon's "Flowering Stone."

At the conclusion of this interesting literary melange, the program committee for the next club year was named to consist of Mrs. Elsie Spruance, chairman, Mrs. Catherine Marble and Mrs. Aldrie Worswick.

Mrs. Cloyes, in resigning leadership of the section, also lapsed all club activities, but was voted an honorary member of the group whose reading she has directed for so wisely during the past year. Following this friendly action, the score of members and their guests, of whom there were three, Mrs. S. B. Marshall, Mrs. Charles W. Drutt and Mrs. Elsie Daley, repaired to the patio, where Mrs. Otis served refreshments, with the punch bowl set amidst the flowers on a charmingly appointed table.

Joining with Mrs. Otis in planning the hospitable features of the afternoon were Mrs. Charles F. Smith, Miss Preble Drake, Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch, Mrs. Aldrie Worswick and Mrs. Perry Lewis.

Olympic Bridge Party Honors Departing House Guest

Entertaining with an Olympic bridge of pleasing originality, Miss Alberta Green was hostess to a group of friends Saturday afternoon in her home, 507 West Walnut street. The rooms of the home were decorated with bowls of flowers in the American red, white and blue, while tiny flags of other nations, fashioned out of colored paper, were combined with the American flags to complete the color scheme.

As the affair was especially in honor of Miss Priscilla Watson, who left Monday for her home in Vaco, Texas, and Miss Marie Moore, who also left Monday for a summer in the Adirondack mountains, it was appropriate that they should be the captives of prizes. For high score, Miss Watson received a red and blue linen sports handkerchief wrapped and tied in white, and Miss Moore was consoled with a clever red and white doll, wrapped in blue paper. Miss Hazel Burgess was awarded a deck of cards in red and white, also wrapped in blue for second high.

The refreshment hour, card table covers were replaced with hand-made covers of stiff paper in the Olympic colors of red, yellow, green and black, and bearing the five linked ring monogram of the Olympiad, while tiny nut cups were filled in the same colors. Centerpieces were miniature flags of all nations set in tiny pottery vases. Refreshments of jello in the Olympic colors were served, together with wafers and iced tea.

Those present included the hostess, Miss Alberta Green, who was assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. E. Green, and the Misses Mildred Congdon, Mary Frances Dayton, Ruth Collins, Priscilla Watson, Marie Moore, Lorna Allen, Hazel Murgue, Donna Crawford, Luvilla Crawford, Eunice Hoffman and Margaret Fine.

Plans were made for a public card party to be held next Monday night at 8 o'clock and of which Mrs. Paul Cozad will serve as chairman.

Meeting in the afternoon, members put in a profitable afternoon, trying comforters.

Word received yesterday by Santa Ana friends of Mrs. M. A. Holmes revealed that the Santa Ana woman, whose journey to Minnesota was made because of the illness of her mother, had found her mother in better health than she had been at the time of the summons, and expected to recover in a few days. Mrs. Holmes made the trip by automobile with her sister and niece, Mrs. Otis Hoyt and daughter, of Long Beach. The journey was made in six days, the letters indicated.

Cecil V. Robinson, 603 East Sixth street, left Sunday on a trip to the San Pedro mountains of Lower California, to join the Fifth club in its geological conchological excursion. Accompanying him were his brother, Victor Robinson, and Oscar Williamson, both teachers in the Long Beach schools.

Friends Give Surprise Party in Honor of Birthday

A beach party honoring the birthday anniversary of Miss Mary Mendenhall of Santa Ana was an enjoyable event of this week, given in the afternoon at Corona del Mar. The affair had been planned as a surprise to the honored guest, with Miss Evelyn Griset assisting Mrs. Mendenhall in all arrangements.

Guests found it an easy matter to surprise their friend, because she had invited Miss Margaret Guthrie and Miss Elizabeth Sturtevant to spend the afternoon with her at the beach. Those planning the party arrived later to join the trio.

Following an enjoyable swim, the group took part in a delicious refreshment menu of ice-cream and cake. Many lovely gifts were presented to Miss Mendenhall.

Those present were the Misses Evelyn Griset, Margaret Guthrie, Elizabeth Sturtevant, Bess Flippen, Catherine Budd, Esther Vogt, Florence Warner, Luella Vall, Lois Young, Ladyce Barnes, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Hadley, grandmother of the honored guest, Mrs. Mendenhall and Miss Mendenhall.

Summer Home Opened In Hospitality to Woman's Club

Santa Ana Woman's club members, recalling today the pleasures of their annual picnic, held yesterday at "Stonehenge," the Coast Royal summer home of Mrs. W. C. Watkins, were agreed that it represented a high light in the club year, and provided one of the most enjoyable social meetings which they had ever known as a finale to the year's work.

Motoring to the beach in the early forenoon hours, the clubwomen found awaiting them, the friendly hospitality of Mrs. Watkins, expressed in the charm of floral appointments, the freedom with which she placed the entire home at their convenience, and the many delectable dishes which she added to the picnic menu served at noon. These additions to the luncheon included chili beans, cooked to a toothsome turn, and many other unexpected dishes to supplement the salads, cold meats and sandwiches, and the ice cream and cake of the dessert course.

Luncheon was served in the patio amidst the trees and flowers which make that such an inviting part of the home, and later the picnicers adjourned to the spacious living room overlooking the sea and the picturesque bluff upon which the home is situated. There the summer meeting and program followed, with Mrs. C. C. Oakes taking the president's chair while the latter, Mrs. J. D. Watkins, took part in the program.

Preliminary to the program features was the acceptance into membership of Mrs. Davis and Miss Minnie Besser. Mrs. Watkins opened the entertainment interval with a travel talk of unusual interest, during which she painted pictures of her leisurely wanderings through Europe with her husband. Vivid glimpses were afforded of Monte Carlo, Paris, Naples, the island of Capri, and different points in Switzerland, but outstanding were her descriptions of Naples, where she and Mr. Campbell stayed in a hotel on the very top of a mountain, so steep that after being taken as far as possible by ordinary transportation methods, they were hoisted into a lift to be elevated to the lobby of the hotel. From their room they could gaze over the beautiful bay of Naples, and directly at the smoking crest of Vesuvius. She declared that she enjoyed Pompeii perhaps more than any other single spot visited, approaching it with memories of Bulwer Lytton's "Last Days of Pompeii."

Continuing the program, Mrs. W. C. Watkins, the hostess, graciously complied with a request by reading the quaint story, based on fact, of "Modigliani as Camille," and Marie Stanton Every sweetly sang "The Long Way" and "The Little Tree," with no accompaniment other than the muted roar of the surf, which added to the effectiveness of the songs.

Formal installation of new officers was conducted impressively by Mrs. A. P. Nelson, honorary member of the club, who had the pleasure of placing Mrs. J. D. Watkins in office for her second term as president. This interval was marked by the presentation of lovely flowers to each retiring officer, and to the special guests, Mrs. Joseph S. Thurston and Mrs. Perris, Laguna Beach; Mrs. S. W. Stanley and Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake.

There were gifts other than flowers to be presented, for Mrs. F. H. Finney, a past president, was privileged to give Mrs. J. D. Watkins a federation pin as the club's appreciation of her leadership while a set of sterling silver vases expressed to Mrs. Every the enjoyment which the club derives from her musical leadership.

For the remainder of the afternoon, clubwomen, nearly 70 of them, enjoyed the charm of the home, its patio, solarium, cactus garden and similar features, all open for their inspection.

Hosts Entertain With Enjoyable Bridge Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Davidson were hosts recently at a delightful bridge supper, giving the affair in their home, 1505 West Tenth street. Baskets of gladioluses and huddala were used in decking the home for the occasion.

Bridge games had been planned for the evening's diversion. When scores were collected, it was found that Mr. and Mrs. Don Edwards held high honors, winning them an attractive gift. Thereon Willis was consoled.

At a late hour the card tables were spread with dainty linens and centered with bouquets of pink and lavender stocks. Mrs. Davidson, assisted by her sister, Miss Florine Pollock, served a delicious menu. This included a handsome cake which she presented to Mr. Davidson in celebration of his approaching birthday.

Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Theron Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Don Edwards, Miss Florine Pollock of Santa Ana; Glenn Feldner, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tulene, Mr. and Mrs. Kemper Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Chastain, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Robinson of Orange, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson.

To enable ice hockey players to turn quickly and to protect their feet from blows, a steel toe cap to be attached to a skate has been invented.

Mrs. Cushman Receives Writing Club in Her Home

Meeting last night with Mrs. R. A. Cushman, 632 North Broadway, Quill Pen members had the pleasure of welcoming as guests, Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch and her sister, Mrs. Aldrie Worswick, who through affiliations with Ebells literature sections, are warmly interested in things pertaining to writing.

The guests shared with members the spirited discussions which followed the stories contributed to the evening's program by Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Frank Was. These discussions, in which constructive criticism is offered by the club as a whole, are always one of the most important parts of a Quill Pen meeting, benefiting not only the member whose work is under discussion, but those whose stories are under construction.

In last night's business interval directed by the president, Mrs. Herman Reuter, the club delegated to Mrs. Reuter the task of appointing a secretary to fill out the term of Miss Dorothy Clarkson, who offered her resignation from office at an earlier meeting. Mrs. Marshall Harnois was named as her successor. It was during this same business period that Mrs. J. D. Campbell extended to the club an invitation from Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, Orange librarian, to her home on the occasion of the next meeting, Tuesday, July 5. Mrs. Faulkner has been a welcomed guest at various club meetings, and the members are anticipating the hospitality which she in turn is offering.

To conclude the enjoyable evening, Mrs. Cushman, with the assistance of Mrs. Roy Winchester and Miss Clarkson, served refreshments to her guests, who included also Mrs. Herman Reuter, president; Mrs. Marshall Harnois, Mrs. N. E. Wells, Miss Verna Wells, Mrs. Maude Goff, Mrs. S. B. Marshall, Mrs. Harry M. Smith, Miss Lella Watson, Mrs. Blanche Brown, Mrs. Marshall Adams, Mrs. Frank Was, Mrs. C. M. McIntosh, Mrs. J. D. Campbell, Mrs. Emmet Elliott and the two special guests of the evening, Mrs. Worswick and Mrs. Hatch.

Retiring Leader of Fourth District Entertains

Climaxing her year of leadership in district P.-T. A. activities was the delightful luncheon which Mrs. Mary B. Robertson gave yesterday afternoon in her home, 1817 North Main street. She is retiring as president of the fourth district P.-T. A., and guests at the affair were her associates in this organization.

Mrs. Robertson's daughter, Mrs. Orlo Householder, assisted in entertaining. Blue and gold, the colors of the association, were observed in all table appointments. Delphinium and yellow daisies were the flowers used, their soft shades harmonizing with the tall tapers and holders used in carrying out decorative details.

Guests included Mrs. R. W. Marvin of Anaheim, incoming president of the fourth district, Miss E. Kate Res, also of Anaheim; Mrs. W. M. Kelsey, Garden Grove; Mrs. E. R. Atkins, Fullerton; Mrs. Earl Sutton, Orange; Mrs. P. H. Greenwood, Huntington; Mrs. S. L. Preble, Mrs. Hugh Neighbour, Mrs. C. H. Marchen, Mrs. Neal Beisel, and Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Householder, of Santa Ana.

The afternoon was spent socially. The rooms of the home had been brightened with many bouquets of gladioluses and other flowers.

TWO PROGRAMS PLANNED FOR MUSIC LOVERS

Two musical programs of real appeal for the music lover and the musician have been arranged for presentation tonight over radio KREG. One program, offering selected classics will be an electrical recording and the other will be by electrical transcription.

At 6 o'clock the studio will present its regular dinner hour program of selected classics, preceded by 15-minutes of semi-classics. The classic program offers three outstanding musicians in featured presentations. The artists participating in the presentation are Godfrey Ludlow, violinist; Josef Hoffman, pianist; and Giuseppe Danise, baritone.

Ludlow will play two numbers, "Leybach's Fifth Nocturne, Opus 52," and "Andantino" by Lamare. Hoffman in his piano presentation will offer two descriptive tone-pictures by Gluck-Brahms and Liszt entitled "Gavotte" and "Murmurs of the Forest." Danise will tell two stories in song. He will present "Buona Zaza" (Dear Zaza), and "Zaza, Piccola Zingara" (Zaza, Little Gypsy).

Concluding numbers on the program will be presented by the Victor Symphony Orchestra and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, under direction of Leopold Stokowski. The Victor organization will close the program playing "Norma Overture," by Bellini, following the Philadelphia Symphony's rendition of the famous Strauss waltz, "The Blue Danube."

The second outstanding musical presentation for the evening is scheduled for 8 o'clock when the Jacques Jouvillier String Orchestra will give a 30-minute program by electrical transcription. Included in numbers to be presented by this organization are: Schrammel's "Only Vienna" selections from "The Firefly" by Friml; Drigo's "Air de Ballet"; and "Merry Widow" by Franz Lehár.

KREG NOTES

Children's health and the prevention of tuberculosis is the subject matter for a short talk to be given tomorrow morning under sponsorship of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Another enjoyable hour of dance music featuring Norm Morgan and His New Valencia Ballroom Orchestra is scheduled for tonight. This program will be broadcast by direct wire from the pavilion on State Highway No. 101.

"A. P. Pington" who dishes the dirt for the Hollywood Keyhole program is burned up because Joan Marsh chews gum. He will tell all about it tonight along with the story of how Jackie Cooper ruined an electrical transcription and how an unknown girl walked into Hollywood—walked we say—and landed a job on the same day.

Unemployed Get Fruit In Hemet

FULLERTON, June 22.—Members of the Fullerton Workers' league, an organization of unemployed, co-operating to assist each other, with headquarters at 233 West Santa Fe avenue, were in Hemet today, contracting fruit. They planned to bring the fruit to headquarters, where it will be canned for future use, according to Frank Cagle, chairman. At the present time the league is feeding 75 families a day. The number has decreased 20 families the past few weeks. A regular business session is scheduled for Friday night.

Gay Dancing Party is Post-Commencement Festivity

Miss Mary Mendenhall and Miss Irma Leigh Fernandes were co-hostesses at an enjoyable dancing party given recently when they entertained a little group of their senior classmates of Santa Ana high school.

The affair was given in the F. Fernandes home in Costa Mesa, with Mrs. Fernandes and Mrs. E. Mendenhall assisting their daughters in entertaining. The home, located east of Santa Ana County club in full view of the bay, provided a lovely setting for the affair.

Girls at the party wore their formal graduation gowns in pastel tints, and made a pretty picture as they danced with the young men, who wore the white flannels and dark coats in which they had graduated.

For refreshments, the young people were seated at a table decorated with pink sweet peas, pink favors and harmonizing placecards.

Those present were Miss Mary Mendenhall, Miss Irma Leigh Fernandes, Miss Margaret Guthrie, Miss Esther Vogt, Miss Katharine Budd and Miss Jeanne Rhinehart; Harry Motley, Ellis Shaw, Austin Joy, Lewis Vollmer, Don Davis and Carl Doss and Mrs. Mendenhall and Mrs. Fernandes.

Santa Anans Attend Reception in Fullerton

Mrs. Eva Bell, Mrs. Geraldine Beall, Mrs. Lena Hewitt and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Parker, representing members of Sarah A. Rounds ten No. 10, Daughters of Union Veterans, were in Fullerton Monday attending a reception given by the tent of that city.

Honored guests included Monte L. Porter, department color bearer No. 3, and Comrade G. L. Van Eaton, department assistant chief of staff. Other department officers in attendance were Frankie Pence, senior vice president; Lillian Gardner, council member No. 1; Edna Wadsworth, councilor. Past presidents of the Fullerton tent also were in attendance.

Light refreshments were served.

Crossness, Tired Feet, and a Remedy

I believe tired feet can make a woman experience more different kinds of crossness than a grocery has pickles!

The busy housewife should take time out to care for her feet just as religiously as she does with her manicure or wave.

Not necessarily must this care be at the hands of a chiropodist. If one has to count the pennies, and who isn't these days? Some quiet evening when you can have the bathroom all to yourself fix a comfortable chair, a light to read by, and a comfortably large foot bath, towels, file, pumice stone and nail scissors. Make the bath just comfortably warm and in it put a handful of bath salts, or plain rock salt and a tablespoonful of alum.

Have this foot bath come well up on the calves and as the water cools keep adding hot water until the feet are well reddened. An hour isn't a minute too long to keep the feet in this bath. Then dry them carefully, rub away the softened callouses with the pumice stone and manicure the nails with the same care you'd give your hands.

After the manicure is through rub the feet with a vanishing cream, employing deep gentle massage through the ball of the foot and up into the ankles. If you are nervous and irritable just try this foot treatment once or twice a week and see what a difference it makes.

TODAY'S RECIPE

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP
1 bunch of fresh asparagus

You travel in comfort by Union Pacific Bus—just like riding in a large limousine. Tip back and relax in your deep-cushioned seat. Enjoy every moment. Convenient schedules. Handy down-town depots.

LOW FARES

K. B. Drug Co., 6th and Main Sts. Travel Bureau, Commercial Nat'l Bank, Union Pacific office 305 Main St. Phone 1877, Santa Ana, Calif.

- 1 can chicken broth or fresh chicken broth (2 cups)
- 2 cups rich milk
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Finely chopped parsley

Cream of Asparagus soup made from fresh asparagus is something you can both have and dream about right now. I've never seen it nicer nor more reasonably priced.

The first thing to do is to cook the asparagus, or better still, cook enough for a vegetable and snick the tops off one bunch for soup. Tie the bunches and cook in boiling salted water.

Do you put the asparagus into its bath as natural, or do you peel it? Those little ear laps on the stalks should be taken off; they are the cause of that strong, disagreeable odor fresh asparagus sometimes has.

While the asparagus is cooking make the cream sauce base. Any cream sauce should be cooked for 20 minutes if the finished food is to be smooth of texture and finely flavored. So, cook the sauce 20 minutes over hot water after it thickens.

Melt the butter, blend the flour into it, add the cold milk and stir until the boiling point is reached, then add the broth (optional, if not convenient use more milk). When the asparagus is ready cut the tender tips in half-inch lengths and add to the hot sauce. Serve in soup cups and garnish with a sprinkling of parsley and paprika.

A quart of soup will make 6 cups. The calories per cup total 135 and are made up of tissue-making proteins and energy-making fats. This is a grand soup for children and underweights but should be looked at askance by the Pleasingly Plump.

And after that bright remark about who can and who can't eat the cream soup I break out in frozen desserts using seeds of cream! These recipes, by the way, are those I use for myself and they are practically cook-proof.

If you like to make refrigerator desserts that ARE desserts just drop me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for NEW FROZEN DESSERTS. Thursday, the recipe will be something I can only call a Swedish Potage, not knowing the name, but it uses the broth in which ham has been cooked and is sum'shne food.

ANN MEREDITH.

Judged by its cast alone, "Week-End Marriage," the picture opening today at the Fox West Coast theater, offers rare entertainment and fine performance.

The team of Loretta Young and Norman Foster, having won such splendid success in the recent production of "Play Girl," are man and wife again in "Week-End Marriage." Loretta Young has been climbing steadily in the past few months in such pictures as "Taxi" and "The Hatchet Man." Norman Foster will be remembered for his work in "Under Eighteen," "Young Man of Manhattan" and "Alias the Doctor."

Aline MacMahon, who won acclaim in "Five Star Final," "The Heart of New York" and "The Mouthpiece," is cast in a prominent supporting role. Teamed with her is Roscoe Karns, who won a place in moviedom through his fine portrayal of Hildy in the Los Angeles stage production of "The Front Page."

Others in the case are George Brent, J. Farrell McDonald and Grant Mitchell.

Joe Mitchell Is Birthday Honoree

FULLERTON, June 22.—Joe Mitchell, constable of Fullerton township, was honor guest at a surprise birthday dinner, given him Monday night at his home on East Commonwealth avenue. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Nichols, Mr. L. Nichols and Miss Pauline Flint of Orange, and his wife and sons, Mrs. Mitchell, who prepared dinner, and Shalvine, who recently returned home from a trip east, and Jack and Edward. During the evening Mr. Mitchell received a congratulatory wire from another son, Jennings, who is in New York.

FISHERMEN TALK

BUENA PARK, June 22.—The regular meeting of the Kiwanis club was held Tuesday evening. A short business meeting was held and the remainder of the evening was given over to Carl Brenner and Dr. R. D. Temple, who told of fishing in Minnesota, and Ralph Cummins, who related tales of hunting in Alaska.

WOMAN'S LOVE CRUX OF FILM AT BROADWAY

Two new fight for a woman's heart in "Man About Town," the current attraction at the Fox Broadway theater.

The woman makes her choice, the men become enemies and one attempts to destroy the other by sending him on a mission so dangerous that death seems a certainty. Fate plays its part and tragedy makes way for a renewal of the ties of friendship when the modern Damon and Pythias unite in their efforts to save the woman from scandal following the mysterious death of an international spy.

Warner Baxter portrays the leading role and Karen Morley, who recently won wide acclaim for her performance in "Arsene Lupin" with John and Lionel Barrymore, enacts the leading feminine part. "Man About Town" is described as a thrilling and dramatic romance with unusual features that are said to make it one of the best screen entertainments of the year. Supporting the principal players is a cast that includes such well-known favorites as Conway Tearle, Lillian Bond, Leni Stengel, Alan Mowbray, Lawrence Grant and Halliwell Hobbes.

THE TINIES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The dogs, with monkeys on their backs, were used to running on race tracks 'cause they'd been with a circus since the day that they were born.

They had been trained to tear around real fast and cover lots of ground. Ten minutes of real racing didn't make them look forlorn.

The monkey's though, were bounced about and anxious to get off, no doubt. One of them started squealing and this made the Tinies smile.

"Stay on there, Jocko," Scouty cried. "You're really having quite a ride. The dogs will stop and then we'll turn you both loose, after while."

But Jocko felt he'd had enough. He thought the going was too rough, so with a very funny squeak he jumped up in the air.

He then seemed happy as could be and scrambled up a nearby tree. The dog he left stopped short. He knew the monkey wasn't there.

Said Duncy, "Well, the race is over. What did that monkey scamper for?" "Oh, what's the difference?" Scouty snapped. "We've had our share of this."

"Let's find some other things to do. I'm ready now for something new. There are a lot of sights 'round here that we don't want to miss."

The Tinies then went to a place that brought a smile to each one's face. A lot of circus ponies was the fine sight that they eyed.

Said Scouty, "Say! I have a hunch that I'll surprise this happy bunch. Bring out two of the ponies and I'll show you how to ride."

The ponies soon were hitched up right and Scouty, full of keen delight, climbed up, one foot on each of them, and shouted, "Well, let's go!"

"Giddyup!" yelled Windy. "Run real fast! We'll cheer you as you race right past." Then as the ponies ran, brave Scouty put on quite a show.

BONERS

In the eighteenth century the ladies had beauty marks on their cheeks to show to which party they belonged.

BONERS are actual humorous tid-bits found in examination papers, essays, etc., by teachers.

The pope of the eastern church sent out a decree that all ideals were to be destroyed.

Mon, ton, son, are used before a feminine noun when the noun is masculine.

The greatest miracle in the Bible is when Joshua told his son to stand still and he obeyed him.

Patrick Henry delivered, the "Call to Arms" in order to encourage the Virgins to join George Washington.

Adolphe Menjou was Charles the First's favorite nephew.

W. C. T. U. TOLD OF PLANS FOR FORMING PARTY

BUENA PARK, June 22.—The Rev. W. L. Newman addressed the W. C. T. U. at its regular meeting held in the Congregational church Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Newman spoke on the present political situation. There is the possibility of a third party being formed, he stated, and prohibition would be included in its platform. A brief review of the situation at the time Theodore Roosevelt was conducting his campaign was then given by Newman.

The program for the day was centered on missions and medical temperance. The birthday of Jennie Caskey, who was active in prohibition work at the beginning of this movement, was remembered by the group. Mrs. H. H. Hagarty and Mrs. Harry Horn read pamphlets on medical temperance dealing with the use of stimulants or liquors in the practice of medicine.

At the brief business session it was announced that a series of radio lectures on prohibition will be given over KREG at Santa Ana. Buena Park will sponsor the lecture for evening of July 19. A letter from Mrs. Lilius Stowe, a former member of the W. C. T. U. in Buena Park, was read, telling of her work in National City, where she is a member. There will be two W. C. T. U. rallies held in July, the first in Fullerton July 24 and the next in Santa Ana July 27.

Mrs. T. H. Walker, wife of the pastor of the Presbyterian church of Anaheim, will be the speaker at the next meeting.

Decision On Water Land Due July 1

FULLERTON, June 22.—The final decision of the supreme court will be handed down July 1 on the government lands needed by the Metropolitan Water district for the aqueduct from the Colorado river to Southern California, according to Walter Humphreys, representative of the city of Fullerton on the board of the water district, talking at Fullerton city council meeting last night.

Humphreys said the people are particularly interested in the starting of work on the aqueduct, and announced that work will open as soon as finances are assured.

At the present time, he said, it is not thought advisable to try to sell bonds, and the Reconstruction Finance corporation can do nothing until certain bills have been revised by Congress.

When work opens, according to Humphreys, from 10,000 to 15,000 men will be employed, and the men will be taken from member cities of the Metropolitan Water district, and will be apportioned as evenly as possible.

FORMER LA HABRA RESIDENT MARRIES

LA HABRA, June 22.—Plans were received today by friends of Joseph Balcom, former La Habra resident, of his wedding July 19 to Julia Ann Harper, of Visalia.

The wedding was solemnized at the Nazarene church there at 2 o'clock. The bride was dressed in long white satin gown, with a lace veil caught up with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Mrs. Rosana Balcom, of La Habra, as maid of honor, who wore a peach chiffon afternoon frock and carried lavender and white sweet peas. Little Betty Osborn in blue crepe was flower girl. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Alva Harper.

Merle Harper, another brother of the bride, served the groom as best man.

More than 100 guests were present at the wedding and a wedding supper was served to the wedding party and immediate friends and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cannon, formerly of La Habra.

The groom, Joseph Balcom, is the son of Mrs. R. Balcom, of Roseville, and brother of Mrs. U. R. Phillips, of La Habra. He is a graduate of the Fullerton Union High school and is now in the employ of the government at Mare Island. The bride is a graduate of the St. Louis High school.

CHAMBER ASKS CLOSING FLOOD CONTROL OFFICE

PLACENTIA, June 22.—Placentia Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday voted to request the supervisors of Orange county to close the flood control office, in keeping with an economy program, and to turn the work over to the county surveyor's office.

The motion for such action was made by William Bielefeldt and was seconded by Louis Jacobson, and followed talks by H. H. Hale and John Tuffree, who told of the failure of the flood control office to convince the supervisors of the need of following a flood control plan.

Hale said he intended to go in person to the supervisors asking for the closing of the doors of the office. Both he and Tuffree told of a trip taken in company with the supervisors when they tried to convince the supervisors of the advisability of granting permission for spreading water in the headwaters of the Santa Ana river bed.

Franklin West, candidate for superior judge of Orange county, was introduced by President A. S. Bradford and gave a short talk. Ted Craig, assemblyman from this district, reported that Governor Rolph will call a special session of the legislature to consider a committee report on a state wide water program.

DANCE PLANNED BY POST IN LA HABRA

LA HABRA, June 22.—Plans were discussed Monday evening by the American Legion for holding a benefit dance soon for the benefit of the La Habra Co-operative Workers' fund. No definite date was set.

E. R. Berry, L. H. Brewer and E. M. Jackson were appointed to attend the annual state convention of the American legion to be held in Oakland August 15, 16 and 17.

Plans were made for a joint meeting with the Legion auxiliary, at which time a steak will be held. The location selected was Irvine park and the affair will occur the last of the month.

The membership committee reported that the La Habra Legion was now over its quota with 51 members.

The American Legion will go in with other organizations of the city in sponsoring a supervised playground for the children for a six weeks period this summer.

The proposed easing of public lands at Coast Royal to a private auto camp is something the board of supervisors would rather not hear anything more about.

Yesterday during the afternoon session of the board County Clerk Joe Backs started to read a letter from San Clemente signed by City Clerk William Holmes in which he notified the board of a resolution recently adopted by the trustees of the Spanish village in which they protested the proposal to lease certain beach lands to the proprietor of an adjoining auto camp.

When he had reached the portion of the resolution referring to the beach lands at Coast Royal, Backs was halted by John Mitchell, chairman of the board, who said that he did not think it necessary to read further.

He said the board was not going to lease the land anyway. Supervisor William Schumacher said they had considered the project, but couldn't lease it if they wanted to. Supervisor George Jeffrey said that if the public knew the circumstances of the proposal instead of "a lot of hokey they read in the newspapers," all the discussion would have been averted.

Dinner Observes 83rd Anniversary

WESTMINSTER, June 22.—Many letters, cards and telegrams were received by Mrs. Addie L. Blakey when she observed her 83rd birthday this week. Four lovely cakes and other gifts were received by the honoree.

Calls from friends were enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, of Santa Ana, old friends of the honoree, came bringing ice cream and cake in the afternoon. Visitors included besides those mentioned, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fabin and three children, of Bolas; Mrs. E. Schneider and Mrs. Helen Schmitt, of Garden Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wakefield and three children, of Los Alamitos; W. A. Morris, of Buena Park; the Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Laird, of Talbert; the Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson, of Midway City; Mrs. Glenn Wells, Mrs. U. E. Phillips, Mrs. Minnie Trout, of Westminster.

LICENSE ORDINANCES REVISED BY FULLERTON CITY COUNCIL; LEGION SEEKS PARADE FUNDS

FULLERTON, June 22.—An ordinance regulating the issuance of city licenses and bringing all such regulations under one head, was read and passed at the Fullerton city council meeting last night. Few changes in rates over those in the old ordinances were noted, the chief difference being that a 10 per cent penalty is added for delinquent payments.

Consideration of many problems faced the councilmen, with Mayor William Hale, Councilmen T. K. Gowan, Ted Corcoran and Potter sitting until a late hour discussing them.

An appeal for gas plates in the Commonwealth park made by Mrs. Grace Johnson of the City Nurses association was placed in the hands of the park committee. Councilman Gowan, chairman, Mrs. Johnson said the association plans to hold a series of benefit teas, beginning Friday, at the park.

Councilmen voted to place in the hands of the relief committee, "Councilmen Corcoran and Ber. Arlin, the matter of buying $25 advertising on the front of the programs the Workers' Legion is to have printed for a benefit play, "Speeders," to be presented at the Fullerton Union High school auditorium July 8 by the Little Theater Guild of Orange county. The proposal was made by Frank Cagle, president of the league, who told of the work it did. The committee was given power to act in regard to the matter.

Members of the boys' aircraft club may sell pop at ball games to assist in raising money for their work, councilmen agreed. The request was made in writing by their leader, George McClelland.

In consideration of the present policy of economy, and the need of budgeting carefully, a committee of the Fullerton American Legion post is to meet soon with the finance committee of the council to consider the amount needed by the Legion to assist in the American Legion parade of November 11, to be held at Fullerton. J. E. Seale presented the matter to the council last night.

Councilmen, who are considering a budget now, said that the fund granted will have to be allowed specially in the budget.

Another economy measure was proposed by City Treasurer J. Charles Johnson, who suggested that since municipalities are not exempt from the new check tax, that all bills be paid in warrants. Harry May, secretary of the chamber of commerce, told of the Southern Counties Gas company employment of labor and of the company's fair way of handling that labor.

Change of 141 threads in fire connections have been made to conform with a standard connection, according to Fire Chief Roy Davis in his report.

At one time the bugs covered the yard of the house on the ranch, even invading the house to such an extent that the occupants found beds and all furnishings covered with them. The bugs, grey in color, are about the size of a flea, keep moving constantly and are so thick they give the impression that the ground is moving. Soon they were noticed by the moving onto the Glenn Wells place, adjoining the Haster ranch, and they now cover the yards and garden there. So far no injury to any vegetation here has been noticed.

GARNER AND "SOCIALISM"

Another reason why we would be opposed to Garner is because it seems to us that he would be unsafe. He is against the spread of "socialism," and yet he has been in favor of every socialistic proposition before Congress except to aid the unemployed. Does he mean that he is opposed to any further Federal help to needy conditions, or only against helping those out of work? We have now a government army, a government navy, a government Post Office, —we have the government in the printing business, printing envelopes. The government is in the forestry business, the health business, the banks. The government owns the public schools, the highways, the sidewalks, the water supply, and this year the government saved the whole situation by raising money for the banks and the railroads and kindred organizations, so that in the end it might help all the people. All of these are "socialistic."

There is a proposition on for legislation for the government to aid the home-owners in need of funds. We presume this Mr. Garner would oppose as "socialism." When the people reach a point where individual citizens and organizations cannot cope with it, they call upon the Government in its united manner to help them out. This is what spreads socialism. "Socialism" is the brand Mr. Garner would evidently place on government aid rendered the other fellow. "Stabilization" and "Reconstruction" is what he calls it when it helps what he favors. Garner, apparently, is opposed to such help by organized society. We don't much care what you call it, but we would like to have him tell us how he would help and what he really means. Would he do away with this government ownership of all these institutions, and take the tax money back from the Reconstruction Finance corporation? Or was this just a fulsome mouthful that he was handing out for bait for President to a people whom he thought prejudiced on the word "socialism," and who weren't intelligent enough to know what he meant about it?

ONE OF THE BEST MINDS

James R. Garfield declares that Borah misinterpreted the liquor plank of the Republican platform. Mr. Garfield drew this plank, or at least he was chairman of the Resolutions committee. It was drawn supposedly for 120,000,000 people to consider and to advise them as to the attitude of the party on that issue. One of the ablest Constitutional lawyers in this country is Senator Borah. He is unquestionably the most able man in the United States Senate. He is a lawyer of outstanding distinction, and probably would be considered as among the best in the United States. And Mr. Garfield says, after Mr. Borah has analyzed this plank, that Mr. Borah doesn't know what it means. Strange that in his interview Mr. Garfield didn't divulge the secret of its meaning to the mass of the people. And if a man of Borah's capacity isn't able to analyze it, who was expected to interpret it?

GARNER SURPRISES

Garner certainly is an interesting cuss. A man who has represented his district in Congress and has been elected Speaker of the House, has concealed from his people how he stands on the "wet" and "dry" question until today. It surprises the president of the Texas W. C. T. U. and she condemns him in earnest. Other "dry" leaders in Texas seem to be dumb with consternation. We wonder if Hearst's support of Garner, and the clear-cut position he has assumed against the Eighteenth Amendment have any connection. We can hardly believe it.

DIFFICULTY IN PULLING TOGETHER

Our friend, Mr. McAdoo, and Al Smith will be united like the Siamese twins on one proposition, in any case, and that is to defeat Roosevelt. Isn't it strange—Roosevelt's friends have adopted the identical proposition of Mr. McAdoo in respect to a popular referendum on the liquor question, and Garner is openly and frankly for repeal. Yet McAdoo is against Roosevelt and for Garner. Maybe Mr. McAdoo will change his mind when he reads Garner's statement of what he believes.

CONGRATULATIONS AND EXPRESSION OF HOPE

Four of the Board of Supervisors voted to refuse to participate in the proposed $400,000 water conservation program for the upper Santa Ana river.

The more the people know of this project, the more they will congratulate themselves that the Board of Supervisors has refused to participate. In fact, the county will have to go further than this in order to get for themselves the degree of protection that is needed in this water situation, relating to this whole project. The Register proposes to publish considerable material in the immediate future, giving the facts bearing upon this entire question. But it is well for the county that the Supervisors take this view.

We hope that the Supervisors will be as wise, in relation to the project now before them, in granting the city of Santa Ana a small portion of the large amount, which is in equity due the city from the gas tax fund. The $63,000 which is delinquent from street assessments, for which request is being made by the city trustees, is greatly needed, and as we have pointed out many times, justice requires that the cities like Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton, shall receive their fair share of this fund.

KNOW WHAT THEY WANT

Tammany is into Chicago in full force, out with its tomahawk against anyone and everyone who doesn't love the Tiger. They are the only ones who show intelligence in a Democratic convention. They aren't anxious for the party to win nationally. They get their millions from the unfortunate people who live in New York City, and they are out for self-protection in the national convention.

WALKER IN HOLE

Jimmy Walker is in a hole. If Tammany throws Roosevelt down, Governor Roosevelt's course is clear as to what to do with Jimmy. And then if Tammany supports him, Roosevelt will have to throw Jimmy out in order to win the rest of the country. There are other prettier spots to be in than in the position of Governor Franklin Roosevelt.

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS

Senator Fess, a "dry," is in the amusing and amazing role of defending the position of Walter Brown, a leading "wet" of Ohio, and Ogden Mills, the leading "wet" of New York, against Senator Borah. Talk about "politics making strange bedfellows!" If you want to see that statement exemplified, watch Fess whenever he retires.

PRESIDENT HIBBEN RETIRES

John Grier Hibben has just retired as president of Princeton. He has been putting in very much of his time of late helping the Crusaders against prohibition. It is possible he will put all of his time in along this line hereafter.

War Songs

Pomona Progress Bulletin
Practically every English-speaking soldier in the World War knew about Mademoiselle from Armentieres.

Knew about her, that is to say, in song. For the most famous of all war songs, beyond a doubt, was that highly improper ballad which had the catch-line, "Hinky-dinky parlezvous," which told of the adventures of this fabled dame from Armentieres. Mademoiselle herself remained shrouded in mystery, until just the other day; and then an American composer, who is in France making a study of World War songs, announced that he had found out some things about the lady and had learned how the song came into being.

There was a cafe at Armentieres, it seems, and mademoiselle worked there. She was a very proper young lady, and one day a general, attempting familiarity with her, got his face roundly slapped; and at a regimental sing a few days later some inspired songster introduced a ditty dealing with the incident.

And that, it seems, was the start of it; and the anecdote leads one to muse about soldiers' songs, and to wonder how they originate, and what it takes to set fighting men chanting the same chorus.

The World War soldiers sang this ditty about the girl from Armentieres. But what did other soldiers in other wars sing? They sang songs from campfire ballads, of course—but they had their own special songs, too, and these songs never got in the anthologies, and they have been forgotten. The Roman legionnaires, it is said, had a riddle song about a girl named Lalage, who doubtless was a prototype of this Armentieres charmer; and it would be worth a good deal to know how the song went, and what its tune was.

Men who march off to fight must sing. They will sing everything and anything, except the pompous patriotic pieces which the stay-at-homes like; and usually they evolve their own pet songs, and, sinking them, march off to die—at Ypres, or at Chickamauga, or Waterloo, or Saratoga, or wherever it may be; and all we get is a tantalizing reminder that somewhere back of each song there was some flesh-and-blood figure like this mysterious girl from Armentieres.

Suburban News

San Diego Union
Yesterday an American Airways plane left Lindbergh field here, bound for the east over the southern air route—the shortest, swiftest and safest airway from the Pacific coast to the distribution point in Dallas, Texas. The plane is carrying some 300 pounds of mail. Some of the 15,000 pieces of mail in that consignment will be delivered in New York City tomorrow morning. And when that distribution begins, a campaign begun 10 years ago and carried on by the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, Southern California business leaders, postal and aeronautic authorities, will have attained its goal. San Diego becomes Southern California's terminal airport on the swiftest and most direct air line to the east. San Diego is less than 36 hours away from New York City.

By courtesy of American Airways, New York will soon be referring to San Diego as its pleasantest residential suburb.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE SWIMMING POOL

The city man, when days are warm
And he would fain be cool,
Can paddle his ungainly form
Around a swimming pool,
And in its waters, clear and blue,
Forget the blazing sun,
Believing, for an hour or two,
That he is having fun.

But far away and long ago
When I was freed from school
And all its cares, I used to know
Another swimming pool.
Where for all forms of worldly care
One never gave a hoot,
And not an urchin had to wear
A shred of bathing suit.

Across the stream the thrushes' song
Would echo from the trees,
And all the afternoon along
One heard the hum of bees,
While now and then a surly frog,
Employing as a boat
An idly drifting hickory log,
Would sound his solemn note.

I like to hope I may return;
I like to sit and dream
That I may lie among the fern
Beside that little stream,
And gaze upon the summer sky
And meadows, forest-walked,
But well I know that days gone by
Are not to be recalled.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

BEYOND FARM LEGISLATION

All too often, when the farmer thinks of the help the statesman might bring to him, he thinks solely in terms of farm legislation.

He is all too likely to confine his reading and discussion to pamphlets, bulletins, and political correspondence that deal directly and exclusively and obviously with the economic problems of the farmer.

Every day it is becoming more obvious that the farmer must become an intelligent and eager student of the whole round of political and economic policies of state and nation even when they seem not to be directly related to agricultural problems.

The fact is that we might have perfect farm legislation, in the narrow sense of farm legislation, and still find the farmer in a sorry plight as a result of financial, business, and industrial legislation and practice that had played havoc with the soundest of farm legislation.

The farmer must realize that what happens on the stock market in New York affects him.

The farmer must realize that what is done about tariffs affects him.

The farmer must realize that what is done about reparations affects him.

The farmer must realize that what is done about war debts affects him.

The farmer must realize that what is done about political for-sign relations affects him. The farmer must realize that what is done about banking affects him.

The farmer must realize that the cost and character of governmental activities affect him. The farmer must realize that what state and nation do about industrial unemployment affects him.

In short, the farmer cannot isolate his problem from the status and prospects of the political and economic order of his nation, in particular, and of the world, in general.

This means that, unless in our state legislatures and in our national congress the voice and vote of the farmer are to be short sighted and subversive, we must get going promptly a very real adult education movement throughout rural America.

Tomorrow I shall say why, as I stood before some 3000 farmers the other day, I felt that all of the things I discussed in yesterday's article—scientific and economic research, better business management of farms, cooperative marketing, the semi-industrialization of the farm output, and a richer training for the young men and young women who are to live on American farms in the next decade—and the adult education for rural Americans I have discussed today are not enough. If American farms are to recover and to stabilize their prosperity. Copyright, 1932, McClure Newspr. Syn.

My sister Gladis and Harvey came around after supper, and they was mad at each other again, ma saying, Now aren't you 2 ashamed, the idee of not speaking to each other after Harvey has just come home from a 2 weeks trip.

He can go away on another one for all I care, Gladis said. I don't know what he came back for, because he scarcely bothered to write me the whole time he was away, wich proves he doesn't give me the slightest thaw or the tiniest consideration, he doesn't think any more of me than if I was the smallest fish in the ocean, she said.

You're the biggest fish in the world to keep on twiking like that, that's all I can say, Harvey said, and ma said, Now Harvey, is that nice; Just imagine Gladis' feelings with her husband away for the first time, all alone and eagerly waiting for some new or tidings, only to have the postman shun the house day after day, she said.

More fish, Harvey said, and Gladis said, Yes, and when he finely does write, what's in the letter? Nothing but complaints and bemoanings, she said.

Why Harvey, ma said, and Harvey said, She's quite rite, the finny creature. I complained and bemoaned because I'd been away an entire week without having received so much as a postcard from her although I had sent her 2 long and interesting letters in spite of the fact that she had not kept up her end of the bargain, and the bargain was that we were to write each other a letter every single day of my absence, he said.

Well my stars, if he had any imagination he'd of realized that I had nothing to write about, just staying home in the same hum drum surroundings where nothing ever happens to tell, while he was in new fields and had plenty to write about, but all he sends me are 2 letters in a whole long week, that's the amount and extent of the consideration he has for me, Gladis said.

Echo answers fish, pop said. Let's go around to the bowling alley, Harvey, and try to roll away the tribulations of the masculine sex, what do you say?

Wich Harvey said yes.

Indications were that Orange county would go over the top in the $903,000 quota of War Savings Stamps. County Chairman John McAdoo declared that every community was approaching the required sum, and pledges were being secured in readiness for the opening of the drive.

Judge Cox, presiding over a wedding in the justice's rooms at the county courthouse, felt that he had earned his wedding fee when he finished transcribing the names of the Los Angeles couple he was called upon to marry. They were Mrs. Henriette Helene Auguste Macheleidt Murray and Herman Wilhelm Hartriss Erwin Von Ditten.

VIENNA BREAD RIOTS

June 22, 1918, bread riots broke out in Vienna after the Vienna City Council had passed a resolution protesting against the reduction of the bread ration. The same day nine strikers were killed and 36 wounded in Budapest in a conflict between police and railroad workers.

Bulgaria, under the directorship of A. Malinoff, formed a new cabinet.

Italian warships co-operated with troops and enlarged the Pieve bridgehead at Cavuocchera, making it easier for the ships to get within striking distance of the Austrian lines.

Vienna at this time reported a total of 40,000 Austro-Hungarian troops taken.

WHAT ENJOYMENT!

The teacher was trying to boost the sale of photographs to her class.

"Now children," she said, "just imagine how you'll enjoy looking at this photograph when you grow up. As you look at it you'll say to yourself, 'There's Jeannie, she's a nurse; there's Tom, he's a judge; and —'"

"And there's teacher; she's dead," came a voice from the back of the class—Trit-Bits.
